Ben Davis High School--1892

BDHS Presents . . .

Pages from the '61 Diary

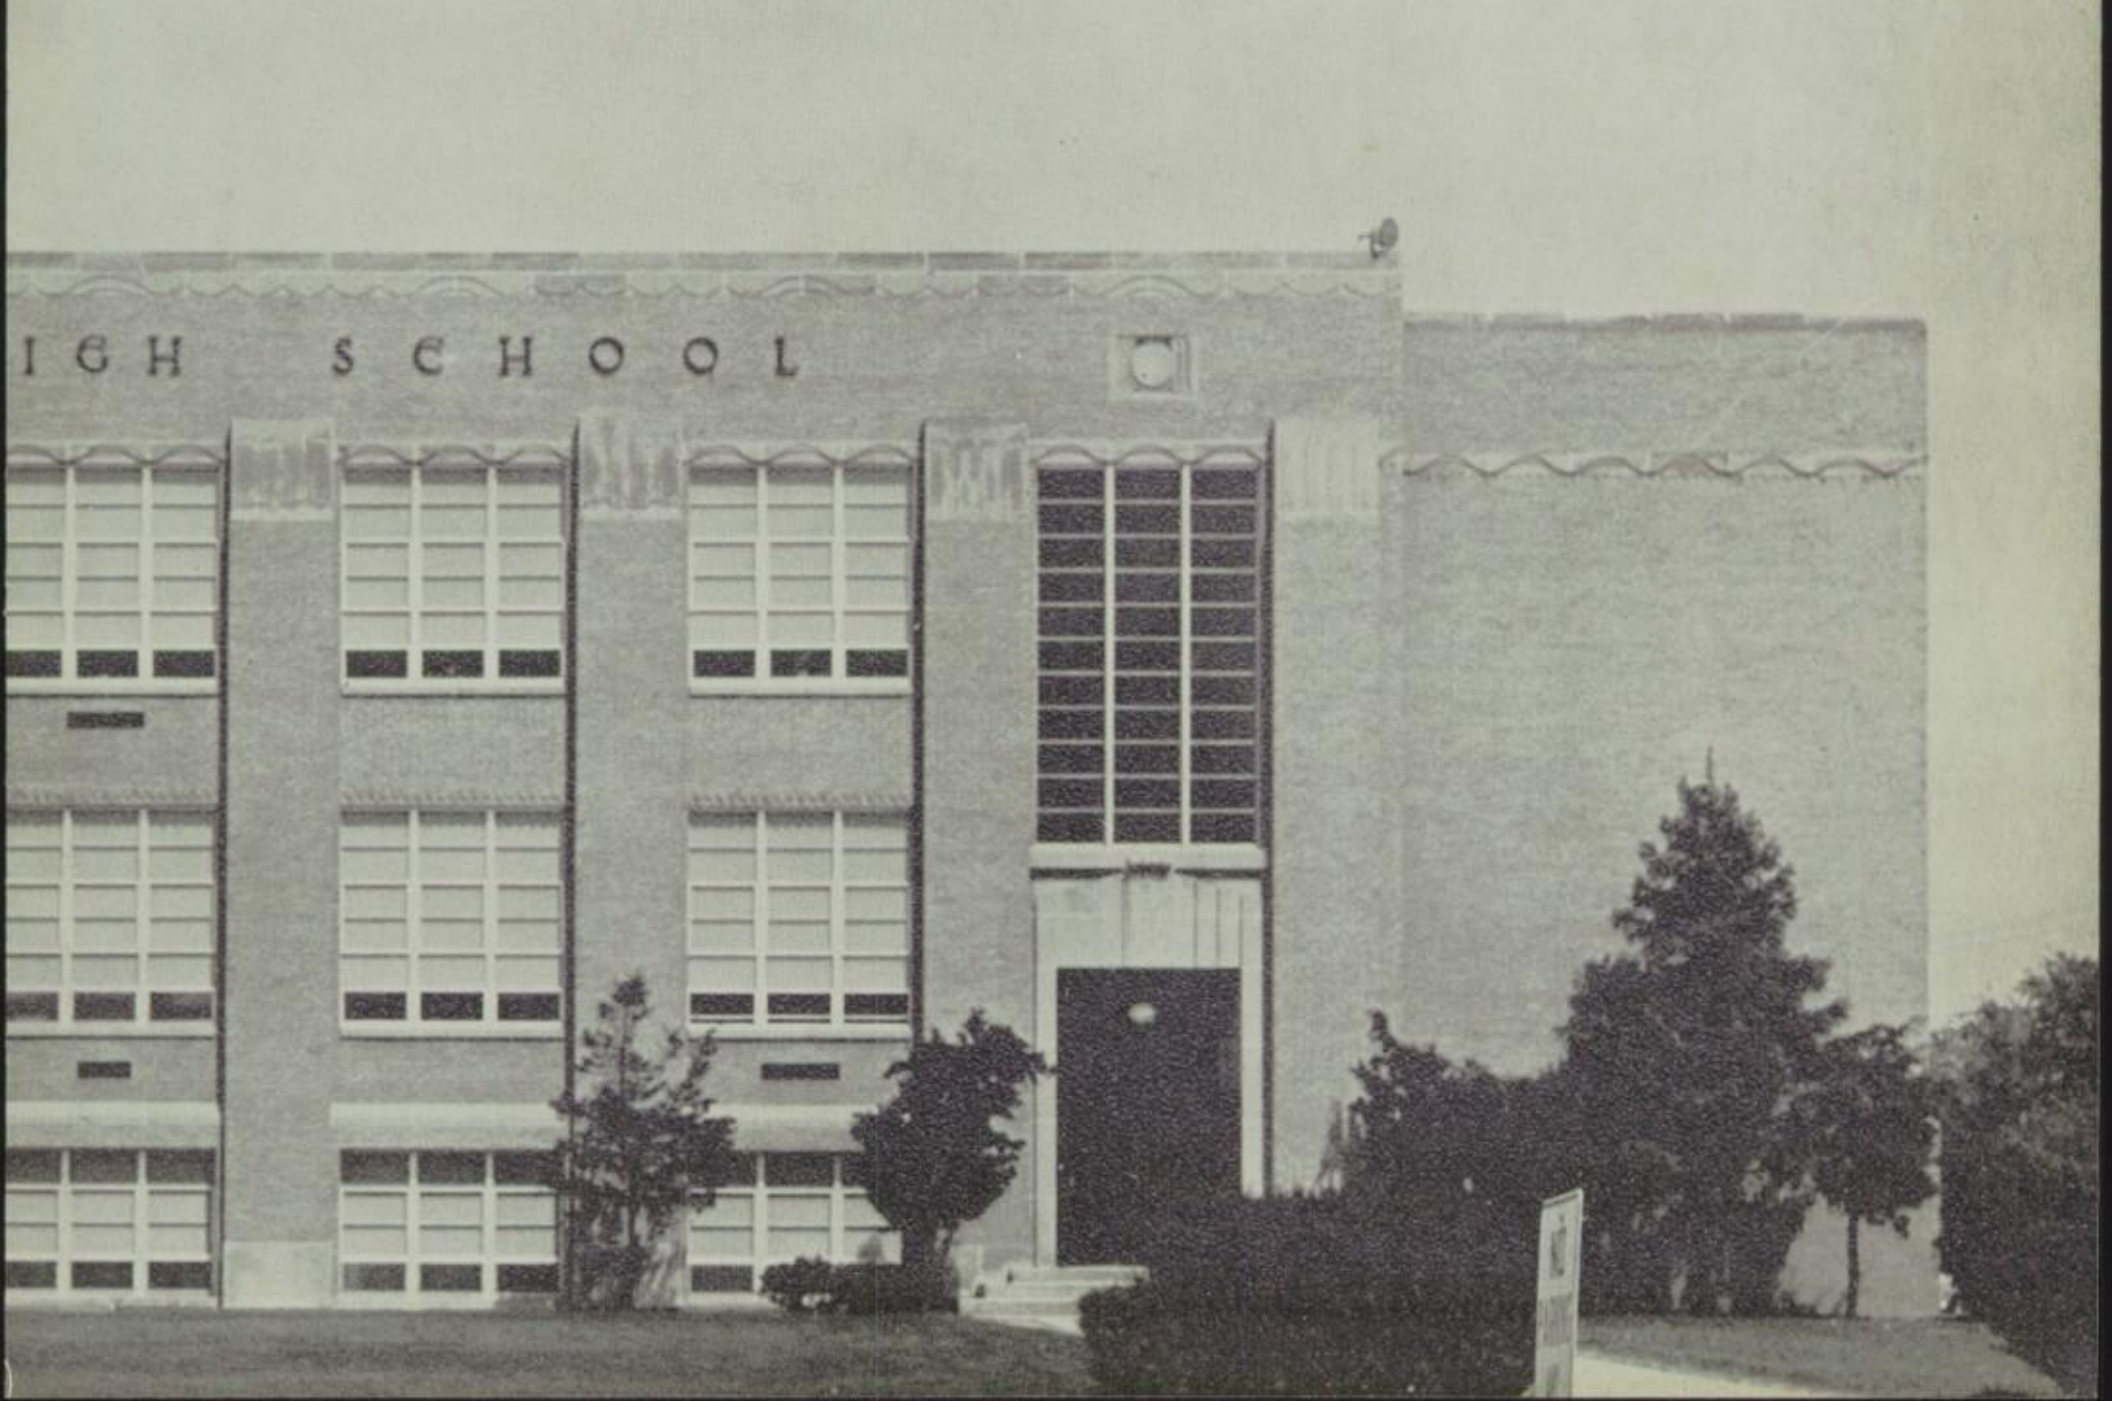
Ben Davis's 1961 diary is filled to overflowing with campus, classroom, sports, and social scenes. The 1961 Keyhole has removed a typical page from it to illustrate how BD's students, through good fellowship and excellent instruction, improved mentally, physically, and socially. The Keyhole itself is to be read as a diary, beginning before 8:00 A.M., investigating the classrooms, examining the sports and clubs, and closing with a review of 1961's outstanding social events.

Ben Davis High School sixty-nine years later.



A familiar view "through the looking glass" in the Cafeteria is the Annex Building. An addition to the campus, it houses English, Math, and Social Studies Departments.

7:30--School Begins; Pupils Arrive,

Riding to school on a bus leaves plenty of time for "news" and whispered secrets of schoolgirls.

Bouncing over the boulders, Dan Tepfer in his "little bug" maneuvers into his parking space before school begins.

"School Days - School Days, Good ol' Golden Rules Days!" So who needs 'em! These are the mumbles and grumbles that can be heard any morning in the halls of Ben Davis.

Clusters of students can be found in any one of several places--in the cafeteria finishing their breakfasts--in the hallways discussing the latest gossip--in the gym brushing up on assignments--in the dean's offices getting absence slips--or in the clinic catching a few "precious" winks of sleep before beginning their daily schedules.

All kinds of people can be seen w a l k i n g through the hallways in the mornings--the happy little lark, who is ready to "go-go-go" at the crack of dawn; the person who knows he must get up for school so he faces it solemnly and resigned; and the typical student; the sleepy-eyed, stumbling, mumbling student, who just doesn't like this getting-up business at all!

These are the sights and students that fill the halls from 7:30 until 8:00 every morning.

Class-to-class rushes have not yet begun as students leisurely begin a school day.

Breakfast Gab

Hot chocolate and a cake donut tempts many a BD student on dark wintry morning when the bus comes early and breakfast must be skipped.

Typically, Ben Davis is the sight of students gathered around their lockers carrying on gossip sessions and learning the news before hearing the announcements in roll room.

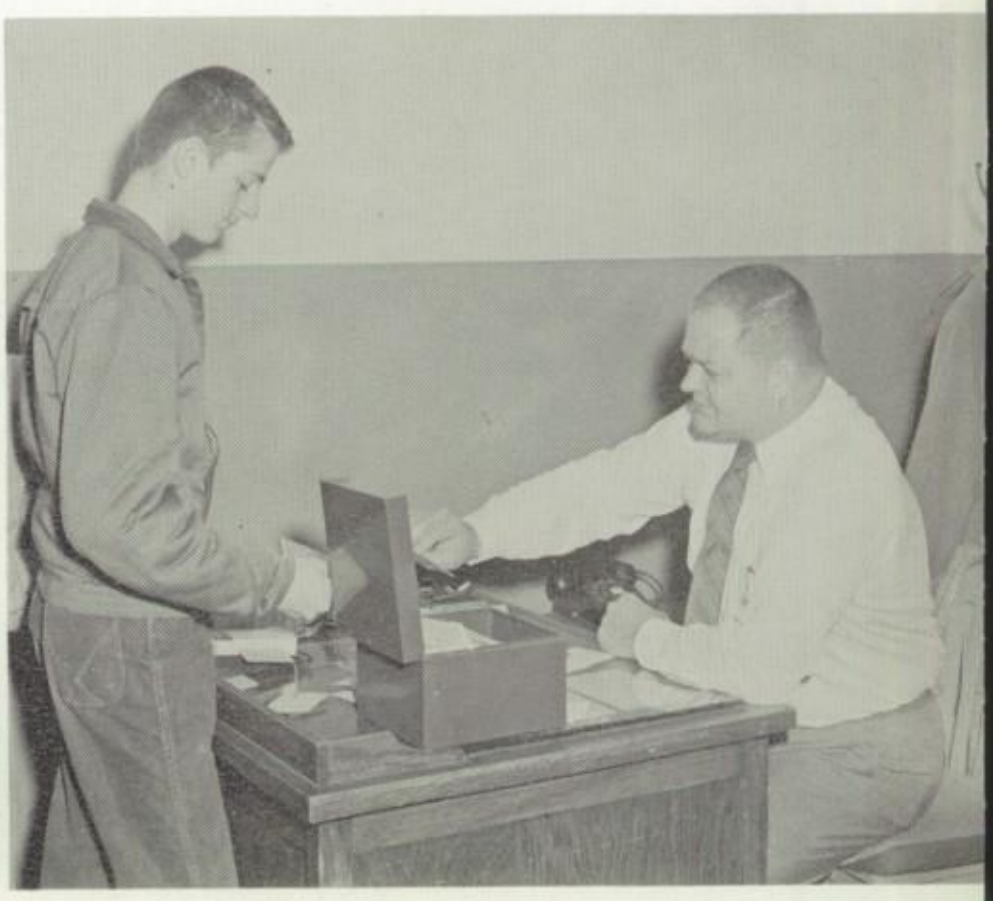
With a warm, pleasant smile Mrs. Helen Mercer issues an absentee slip to a student having an excused absence.

Each morning Mrs. Helen Mercer, Mr. William Girton, and Mr. Robert Seeman went about their duties with an interest in the students they served. Mrs. Mercer, Dean of Girls, and Mr. Seeman, Dean of Boys, checked and validated the absence slips for those who had been absent the day before. As deans they also gave guidance and counceling to those who wished it. Mr. Girton checked those students who had driven that morning but did not have an assigned parking space. Each of these three served the school every morning during the school year and spent many hours before and after school. Respected not only by the faculty, they were held in high esteem by the students. These people gave their all for Ben Davis.

Trips to Deans Is Must for Absentees

Students who do not drive regularly to school and aren't assigned parking places must sign in with Mr. Griton as this driver does.

Among the various duties of the Dean of Boys, Mr. Robert Seaman, is the issuing of boys absentee slips each morning.



In a quiet moment before school a B. D.'ite finds time for a drink.

Before 8:00 Class

Hurry is the word for Ben Davis students rushing back and forth between classes.

Even on a dark dreary, wet morning we had to make pilgrimages between the four different buildings.

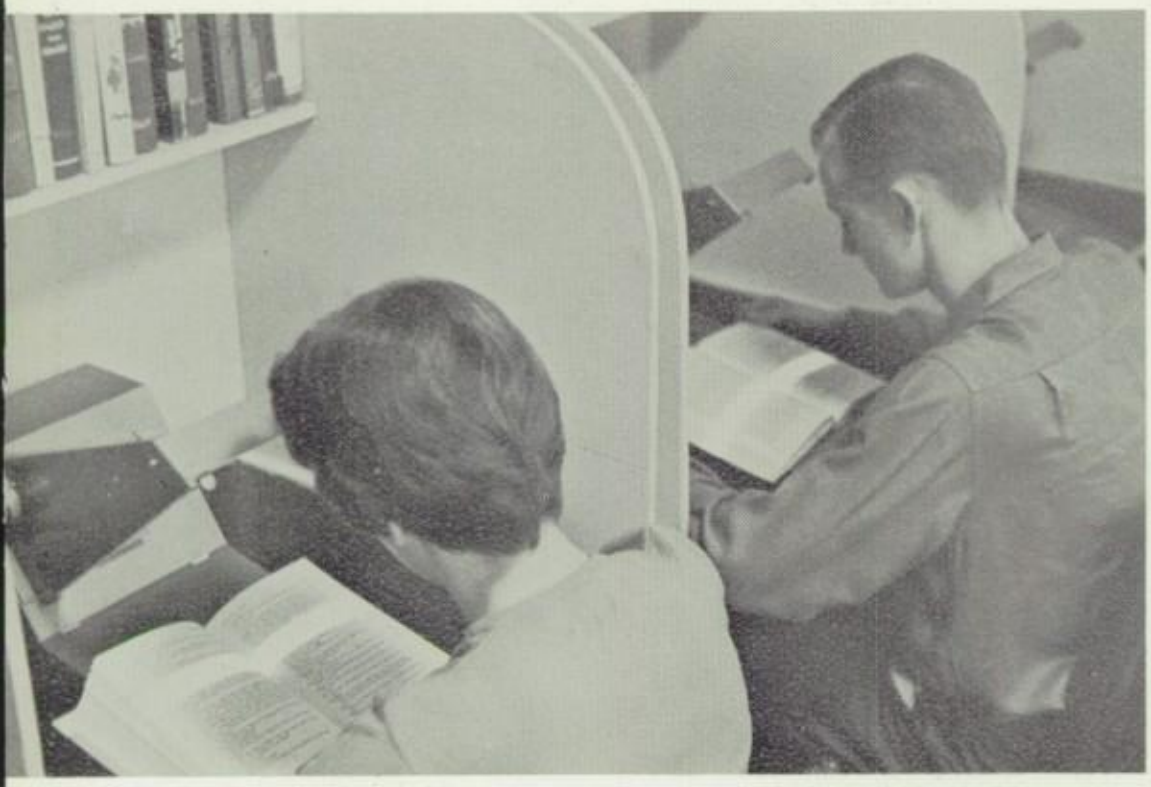
BD'ites Gain Knowledge of Literary

Frosh experience speech work in grammar classes. Carol Bertram here explains the correct way to wrap a package.

By publishing a "Spotlight" themselves, this journalism class gets experience for working on future Ben Davis' publications.



Carolyn Crowe and "Flash" Williams are attempting to beat that "little band of light" down the pages of their books. This is one exercise for developing reading speed and comprehension.

Senior Tom Stevens explains in speech class that he earned this badge by attending a Colorado Springs Boy Scout Jamboree.

Greats, Improve skill to Read, Speak

Teaching us to communicate properly with each other was the job of the eighteen English instructors at Ben Davis.

The English Department offered eight semesters of grammar and literature although six were required. English I, III, and V were grammar and composition courses, while II, IV, and VI were American literature courses. The last two semesters were college composition and English literature.

Also in the English department, under Mrs. Benita Campbell, were courses in Speech I-IV, Journalism I, developmental reading, library science, and Bible literature.

Four semesters of speech were offered to sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Although speech was not required, it aided in overcoming shyness and improving speaking ability.

Developmental reading aimed for increased speed and more thorough comprehension of reading material.

Only one semester of journalism was offered. In journalism classes students learned how a newspaper is run. If a student's grades were respectable, he was given a chance to work on the school paper.

Library science was also a one semester class. After taking the course, the pupils were given practical experience in the library.

Only seniors were offered the one semester course in Bible literature. The class was to acquaint students with biographies, history, and ancient records.

Learning to speak properly is clarified by visual-aids. Here Mr. Don Hansell uses a larynx donated by the P-TA to explain vocal cords to Joellen Bishop.

No, this isn't a travel agency. It's French teacher Mrs. Sue Greenlee assisting Judy Walstow with French pronunciation.

Instructing language courses are: Mrs. Nancy Masters, Mrs. Florence McNabb, Mrs. Phyllis Rogers, Mrs. Helen Wampler, Mrs. Shirley Lynch, and Department Head, Mrs. Helen Mercer.

Math and Languages

Eyeing Mrs. Helen Mercer, Vergil instructor, cut Vergil's birthday cake are Larry Carter, Larry Henderson, Dick Randall, Chlores Hayward, Ruth Phillips, and Pat Cubel.

"Parlez-vous francais?" If not, with the latest addition to the Ben Davis Language Department, it was possible to take a one-year course in French. According to Mrs. Helen Mercer, department head, if enough pupils showed an interest, there will be a second year course added.

Altogether this year, over 500 pupils were enrolled in Latin, Spanish, and French. A four-year course was offered in Latin and a two-year course, in Spanish.

In French, pupils learned only conversational French. In Latin and Spanish the purpose of the courses was to teach students to read and write the languages. In the future, because of the language interest, German may be added to the curriculum.

Triangles, s q u a r e s , hexagons, pentagons, equations, and ratios were just a few of the terms that were exposed to students in math classes.

This year a new machine, the overhead projector, was added to the Math Department to make math instruction more advantageous for teachers and pupils.

Among the courses offered were: general math, shop math, Algebra I-IV, plane and solid geometry, trigonometry, and college algebra. This year's increased enrollment in math indicated students' desire of higher goals.

Although a few pupils felt that math was unnecessary for students not going to college, Miss Nina Martin, department head, explained it was a requirement for many fields of work.

Students interested in fields of engineering will soon be able to enroll in analytic geometry. This course will be an aid to the main objective of higher math which is to acquire a better thinking ability and the ability to organize ideas to draw proper conclusions.

What's this? Dice in a math class? Yes, advanced students, instructed by Mr. Charles Carpenter, study probability, the number of times certain numbers will appear, with the aid of dice.

Are Salt and Spices for BD Students

Math instructors include: Mr. Charles Carpenter, Mr. Marvin Meranda, Miss Nina Martin, department head; Miss Gladys Dawson, Mrs. Helen Poince, Mrs. Elizabeth Van Liew, Mrs. Kathleen Slough, Mrs. Cathryn Copeland, Mr. Robert Seeman, Mr. Ernest Brown.

The most captivating phase of biology is the lab sessions. Here Mr. Bobby Britt, and Mr. Evan Fine supervise the dissection of a frog.

Test Tubes,

All phases of life were covered in the Science Department from the amoeba, the simplest form of life, to the most complicated, the human being. More than half of the pupils this year were enrolled in one or more science classes under the supervision of Mr. Daryl Miller, Science Department Head.

Seven teachers conducted science courses including: biology, botany, chemistry, and physics. To graduate every pupil was required to take one year of science. Usually the course taken was biology taken in the sophomore year. However, if a student wished to take four years of science, a special class of biology was offered to him his freshmen year.

For college-bound students, chemistry and physics were recommended, taught by Mr. Daryl Miller and Mrs. Kathleen Slough, respectively.

Chemistry classes conducted experiments and learned the use of many complicated formulas. In physics, elements of magnetism, heat, light, and sound were studied. Along with these, mechanics, electricity, and nuclear physics were examined.

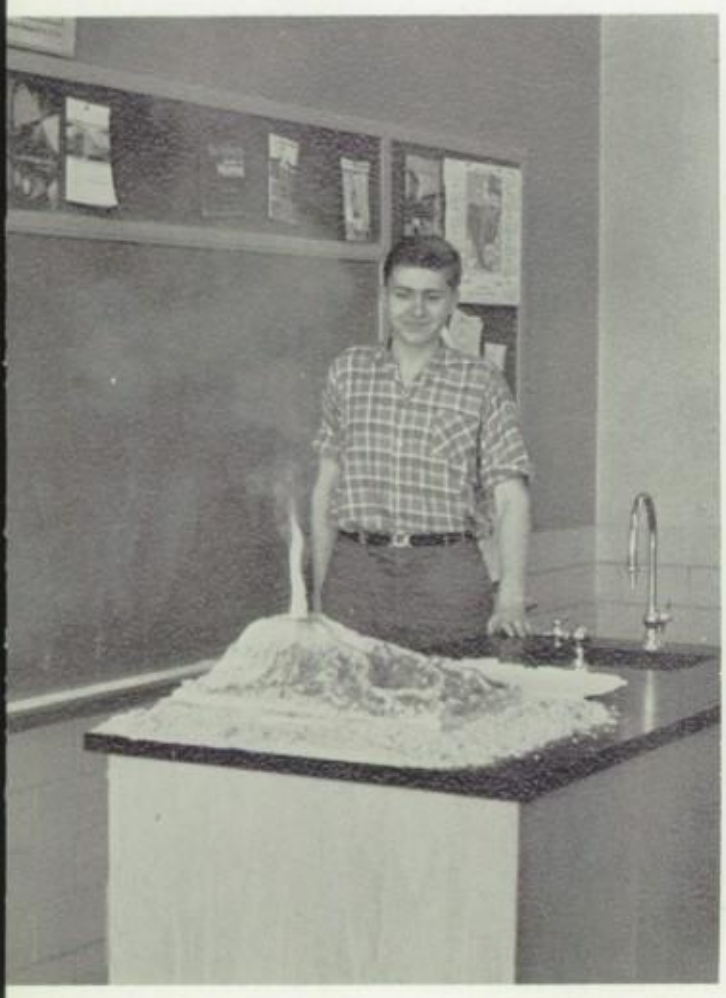
With the Science Department's help and the aid of teachers and advisors, Ben Davisites became more aware of the features of the physical world.

Seated among their test tubes and chemicals are the instructors of the science "Peace Corps": Mrs. Kathleen Slough, Mr. Victor Poe, Mr. Evan Fine, Mr. Arthur Terwilliger, Mr. Daryl Miller, Department Head; Mr. Booby Britt.

Pat Sheppard, Ron Cunningham, Ronnie Clevelle, Bob Roberts, and Barb Hameetman conduct a physics experiment to discover the amount of heat lost by a 100 degree C. metal weight.

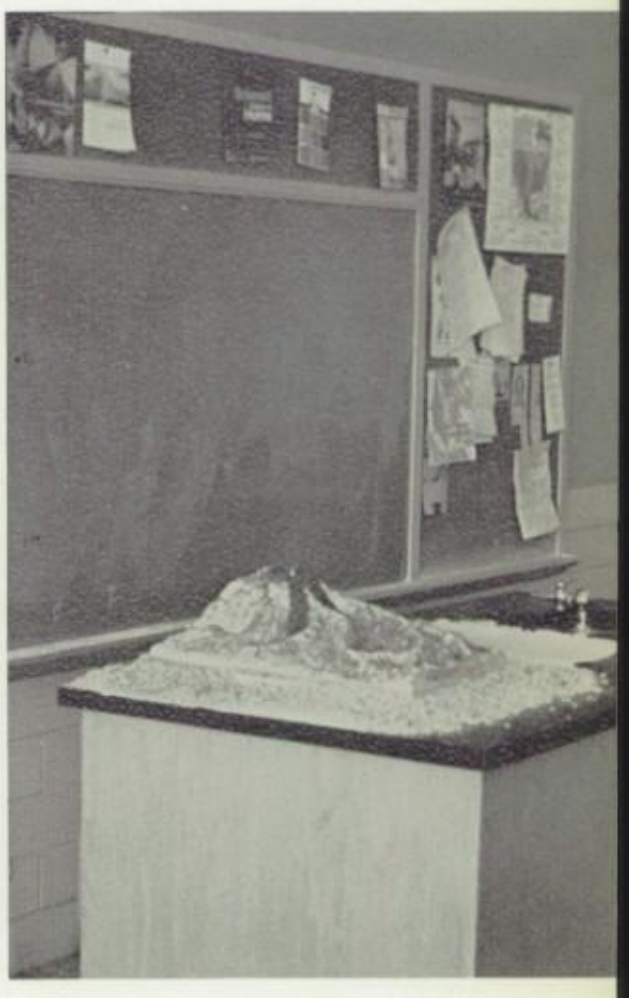
Bugs Are Science Pupils' Pied Piper

Wolfgang May demonstrates his homemade volcano. Here a flame spouts from the crater.



Mushrooming smoke and blistering cinders, the angry volcano sends Wolfgang running--or did he vanish like a genie?

All gone except for a stream of steaming lava.



Cast your votes! Here Miss Olive Carruther's government class select their presidential candidate choices. Just as the adults polled in November, these pupils filled out their sample ballots.

Advisors of the guidance department, who aid students with their personal problems as well as their school problems are: Mr. Trent Gipson, Mrs. Rosalie Harcourt, and Mr. Woodrow Staton.

Student Participation Brightens Social

Mighty Caesar, portrayed by Jeff Gehle, orders two classmates to surrender their jewels to him in a world history play.

"They can face the future," believed Department Head, Miss Olive Carruthers, Mr. Mimis Antonopoulos, Mr. Petey Davis, Mr. Harvey Laughlin, Mr. John Shaw, and Mr. William Price. These instructors taught some of the most important courses at Ben Davis in the Social Studies field which included world history, American government, psychology, economics, and geography.

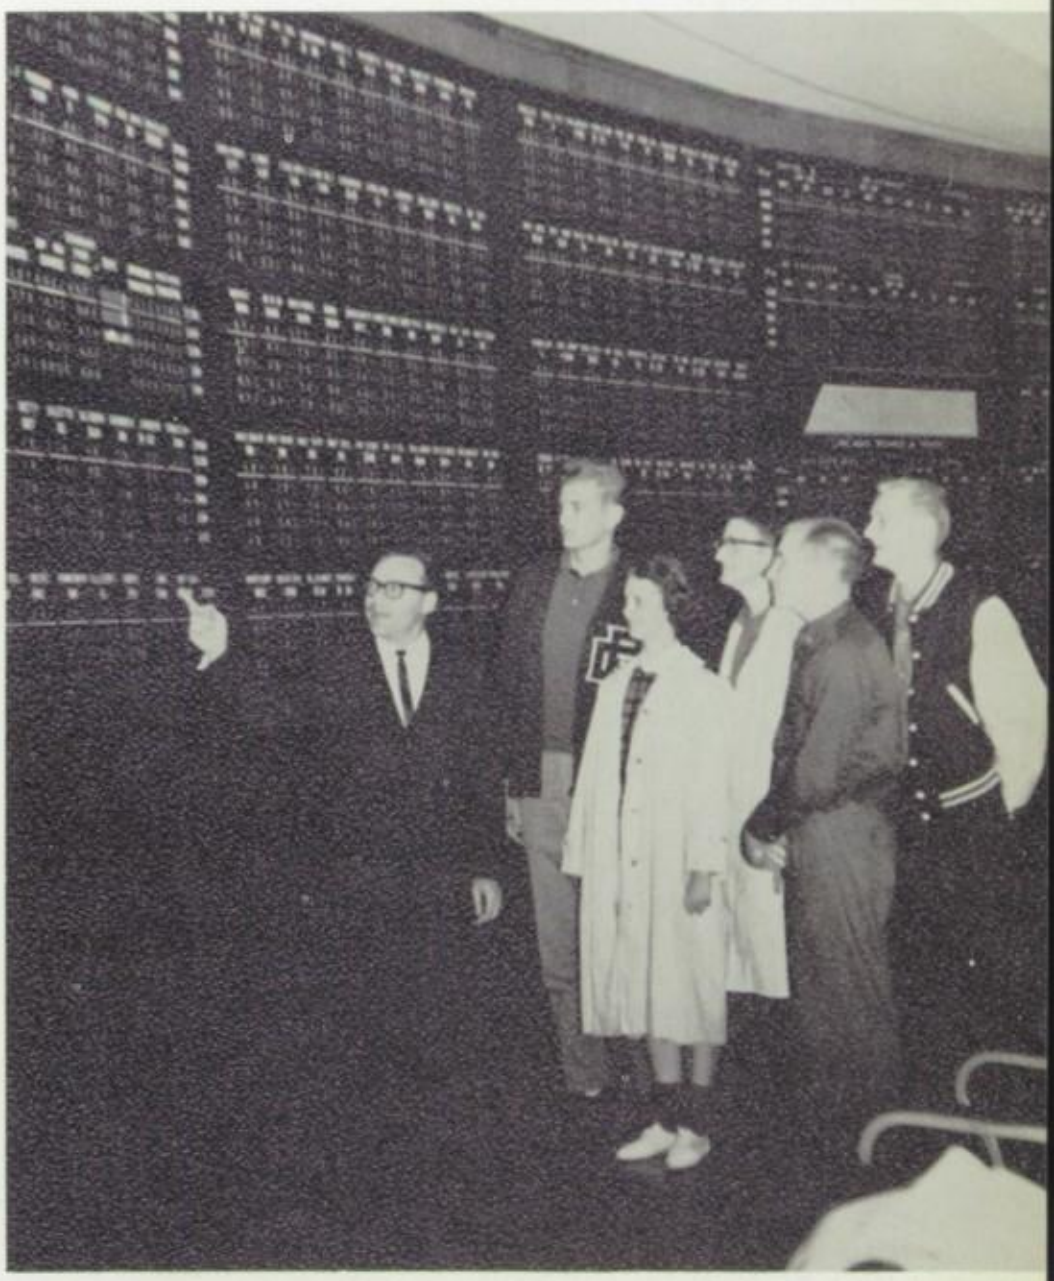
These faculty members sincerely hoped that each pupil, when marching down the aisle to the tune of "Pomp and Circumstance", will know the "circumstances" and challenges he will have to face as an adult citizen of the United States. These teachers hoped each student will strive to solve the problems of finding a just and lasting peace and to search for ways to promote democracy and to defeat international communism. They wanted each student to realize that the future is his to shape and to mold because our government is one "for and by the people," and that he will have "pomp" knowing that he is charged with a grave responsibility, but one that he can handle. He will have been taught the "times that have tried our forefathers souls," and he will be able to carry on the work that has "thus far so nobly advanced us."

So a cannon-ball salute to these teachers who showed us the way to handle the future which will soon be placed in our hands!

Panel discussions, which aim to help freshmen adjust to high school life, are frequent in personal civics classes. Topics, such as: dating, allowances, vocations, studies, and church are most often discussed.

Studies Classes

Comprising the Social Studies Department are: Mr. James Ray, Mr. William Henley, Mr. Pete Davis, Miss Olive Carruthers, department head; Mr. John Shaw, Mr. Mimis Antonopoulos, Mr. Harvey Laughlin, Mr. William Price, Mr. John Bradley.



Studying the stock market in Economics I causes students to visit Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner, and Smith to have the stock board explained to them.

Giving hearty cheers, Ben Davisites, led by the costumed cheerleaders, show their proud appreciation for jobs well-done by the fall athletes.

Plays, Pep Sessions, Convos, Lunch

Another "routine-day breaker" was "Our Town." Here on ladders Melinda Walters, Randy Morehead, and Nancy Thomas gaze heavenward from their "bedrooms."

Amidst cheers of admiration, Mr. Ralph Chandler, band director, admires an "oscar" presented to him at a pep session by the band before its trip to the inaugural parade.

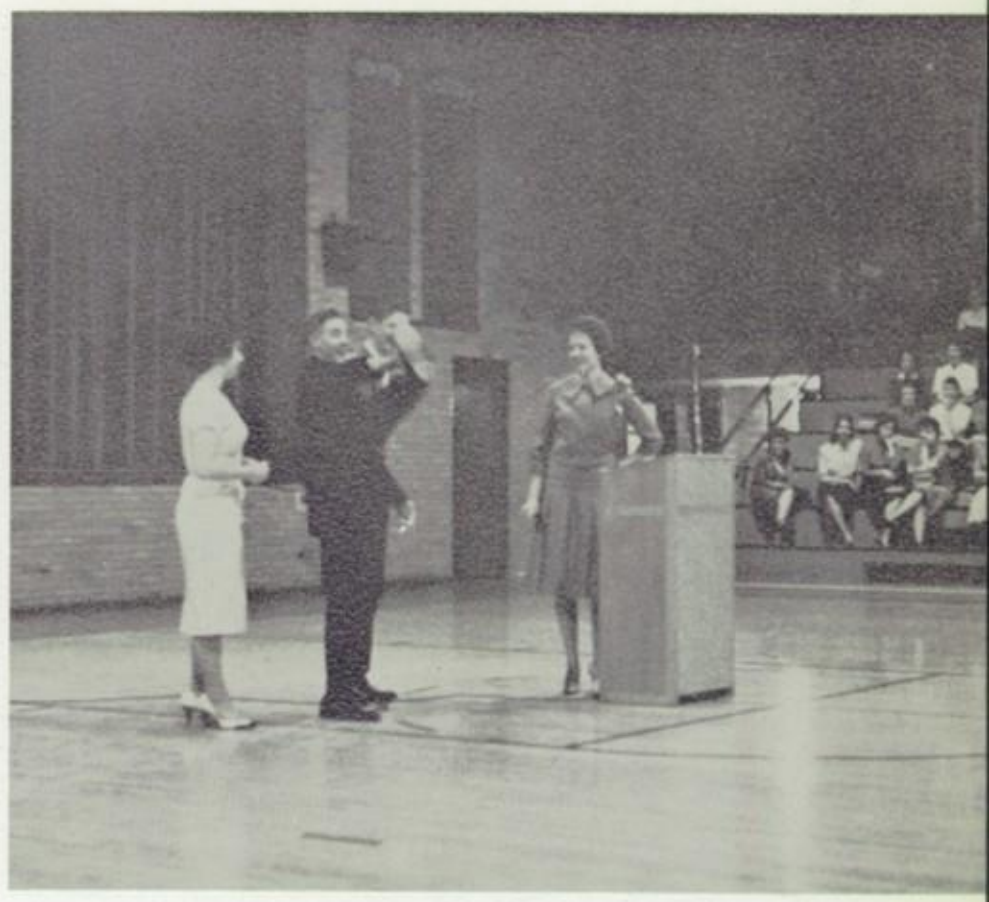
What's that? Another short first period?

During each month the regularity of school days was altered by convocations. Because of an inadequacy of seats in the gym, convocations were presented on a split schedule.

A safety convo exhibited safe driving techniques. "Mr. Quaker" expounded on Communism. New National Honor Society members were initiated before a freshmen audience. Pep sessions with side-splitting skits sparked school spirit at the beginning of each sports season and at tourneys and sectionals. Athletic awards were presented at convos, too.

The Masque and Gavel Club presented "Our Town" and "Harvey". Cheerleader hopefuls tried out and election candidates campaigned. After the convo students returned to their second or third period classes.

Then during the fourth period students filed to the Cafeteria on four subdivided lunch shifts. After their midday breaks, students again resumed classwork.



Earl Houck with his party demonstrates a high kick to draw votes at the election convo.

Bring Changes to the Everyday Routine

At their midday break among moments of utter riot, these seniors manage to gab and to grab mouthfuls of their lunches. Some frequent the main lunch line while others utilize the Snack Bar. When finished lunching, these girls may study, but they usually regab the gab that's been gabbed.

Learning the procedures of office work, these girls practice on comptometers which make adding long columns of figures much simpler than adding without the machines.

Pupils Learn Typing, Shorthand Form;

Commerce Department instructors included: STANDING: Mrs. Hazel Kennedy, Mr. Wenddell Hine, Mr. Loren Jackson, Mr. Phillip Trees, Mr. Donald Sargent, Mrs. Wilma Woods, Miss Darlene Emmons; SITTING: Mrs. Winona Bowers, Miss Mabel Dierdorf, Mrs. Jesse Kirk, department head; Mrs. Florence Gaerte, Mrs. Mildred Doyle.

"Dear Mrs. Smith". . .and. . ."Don't, by all means, forget to unplug the electric typewriters," were two familiar phrases heard in the Commerce Department headed by Mrs. Jesse Kirk. Other commercial teachers were: Mrs. Edna Bowers, Mrs. Mabel Dierdorf, Mrs. Mildred Doyle, Mrs. Hazel Kennedy, Mr. Wendell Hine, and Mr. Philip Trees.

The following commercial courses were offered at Ben Davis: Shorthand I, II, III, IV; Typing I, II, III; Bookkeeping I, II, III, IV; General Business I, II; Selling and Retailing I, II; Clerical Practice, and Comptometer Operating. Non-commercial students were offered senior typing. As one can surely see, the Ben Davis Commerce Department offered many opportunities for students desiring to enter the business world.

Our future secretaries and b o o k k e e p e r s throughout the school year strived to achieve the various pins and certificates which were awarded in shorthand, typing, and bookkeeping. The advanced typing class took the Civil Service test which is offered by the government each year.

Name, address, age, birthdates, and blood types are printed on dogtags by commercial students using this metal typing machine.

Keep Books; Add, Subtract by Machine

Through the halls comes a faint tap-tapping. Hunting it down, one finds a room of gals and guys madly pecking away on their typewriters.

Practical Arts

Oh! It's a party! In cooking classes the girls occasionally prepare parties with refreshments such as this tantalizing Halloween snack table.

When walking through the halls of the Senior Building, did you ever hear a pupil comment, "Boy! Something smells good! What's cooking?"

He means, of course, in the Home Economics I and III classes. Many odors came from their doors. These classes taught girls the fundamentals of cooking. Mrs. Martha Welch and Miss Judith Lakin instructed those classes.

In the Home Ec. classes II and IV, the girls learned the techniques of sewing, the differences in fabrics, the best color for each pupil, and tactful dressing. In the first year of sewing, the girls made blouses and skirts. The second year the girls sewed a wool skirt and a dress of their choice. Mrs. Flora Faust and Miss Harriet Wilkenson instructed those classes.

Home Ec. V was offered to both boys and girls. The course was Family Living and Housing taught by Mrs. Martha Welch.

The last course offered was Home Nursing which only senior girls could take. Heading the Home Economics Department was Miss Harriet Wilkinson.

Instructors of Home Economics courses are: Miss Judith Lakin, Mrs. Martha Welch, Miss Harriet Wilkenson, department head, and Mrs. Flora Faust.

Mr. Marion Fine comments on the excellent time shown him at one of the Home Ec.'s special parties.

Offer Students Preparation for Future

"Hand me that wrench." Oh! I hit my finger with the hammer!" These comments are not uncommon in the Industrial Arts Building.

Under the guidance of ten teachers, there were nine-hundred and eighty-six pupils enrolled in shop classes this year.

"We had a large variety of courses from which to choose," stated Mr. Dwight L. Cottingham, head of the department and Vice-Principal of the Industrial Arts Building. "The courses were: agriculture, mechanical drawing, electricity, machine, metal, auto, and wood shops."

The first four semester courses had to be completed in the sequence indicated before further electives could be made in shop courses.

The most unusual happening in the shop classes, which were all-boy classes, was the appearance of a girl.

"Shop courses are important to most boys," commented Mr. Cottingham, "it gives them a knowledge of the various areas of industrial arts which helps them to select a vocation."

Shop Instructors are: Department Head, Dwight Cottingham; Mr. Harold Wilson, Mr. Ronald Dickerson, Mr. Richard Davidson, Mr. Kenny Hayes, Mr. Ted Green, Mr. Oran Dabney, Mr. Rolland Voris, Mr. Ray Hurt.

Operating a metal lathe is practiced by metal shop students. Frank Majors here exhibits his style at a typical machine.

Chief administrators of Ben Davis High School are Principal Madison T. Shadley and BD's Secretary Mrs. Alice Harker, who efficiently manage the school's affairs.

"I'd like to accept this trophy on behalf . . ." So began the traditional acceptance speeches given by Madison T. Shadley, principal, at the sports convocations.

Although it was in this capacity that Mr. Shadley directly reached more pupils, it was his many other responsibilities connected with the tremendous task of directing a first-class high school that had a greater effect on these pupils.

Mr. William Girton, one of the many essential vice-principals, had, in addition to his time-consuming job of running the Senior Building, complete control over the enormous registration of Ben Davis.

The man to guide all those bewildered freshmen and seniors as well as to regulate the Wayne Central Building was Vice-Principal Richard Apple.

The busiest man in the Annex Building was, without a doubt, Vice-Principal Howard Wood. As if his vice-principal duties didn't keep him busy enough, he was also the co-ordinator of the numerous student activities.

With the patient guidance and considerate advice of the Dean of Girls, Mrs. Helen Mercer, and of the Dean of Boys, Mr. Robert Seaman, the school year was a little easier and more enjoyable.

Last, but certainly not least, were the men, who with their efficient assistants, made Ben Davis possible. Those men were Mr. Sam Lang, Township Trustee, and Superintendent Frank Cline.

Conferences with Administrators Give

Helping Shirley Cubel prepare her four-year plan sheet, Vice-Principal Howard Wood performs one of his major duties.

Guidance department head, Mr. Richard Apple, studies college curriculum for college bound students.

Mr. Duane Cottingham, newly appointed vice-principal of the Industrial Arts Building, here is seen "going over the books".

Wayne Township officials in charge of Ben Davis High School are here discussing several pertinent problems. They are Superintendent Frank Cline and Trustee Sam Long.

Students Occasional Schedule Changes

Attending to his "main pain," Mr. William Girton, assisted by office secretary, Mrs. Shirley Hargis, tries to straighten a pupil's mixed up schedule at semester change.

To return to class after his conference, senior Tom Bauder has his pass OK'ed by friendly frosh monitor, Kathy Zwerner.

In an art class studying the color wheel, Mrs. Faye Nelson examines the progress of Billie DeLong as other students industriously paint away.

Masterpieces are suppose to be a very uncommon occurrance, but did anyone ever glance into Room 100?

Beautiful and breath-taking oils on canvas and eye-catching pictures in chalk and pastels were only a few of the masterpieces that one could find surrounding this room. So, get out your pallet and brushes, Rembrandt, because the Ben Davis artists, who were under the direction of Mrs. Faye Nelson, have really gone to town.

One will find enthusiastic minds, pencils, and brushes in the Ben Davis art workshop at any period of the day.

Many of the students entered various art contest and received excellent results. Several pupils were offered jobs. One of the most outstanding achievements of the advanced art students in a contest was Emmalean Baumann's success in the Golden Key Contest sponsored by L. S. Ayres and Indianapolis Star and News.

Emmalean won honorable mention in the water color section. Entrants were from all over Indiana, and finalists' work went to New York for further judging. This was an important first for the Ben Davis Art Department.

By Daily Practice Talented Students

"Sure wish he would stop moving," thinks Darlene Wright, freshmen. "I've moved his nose three times!" She professes the complaint of many an exasperated artist.

Applying some finishing strokes to his chalk drawing, senior Bill Hart prepares one of his many works for an art exhibit.

"The head man leads the way. . .", as Mr. Ralph Chandler, band director, proves while directing the marching Giant at the annual spring festival.

Improve Artistic, Musical Skills

The "Cultivators" is a good name for these five people: Mr. Ronald Doak, Mr. Ralph Chandler, Mrs. Lorna Walker, Miss Carolyn Bugher, Mr. Gene Smith. These teachers have cultivated in us the appreciation for good music, which will stand us in good stead in our search for culture and refinement.

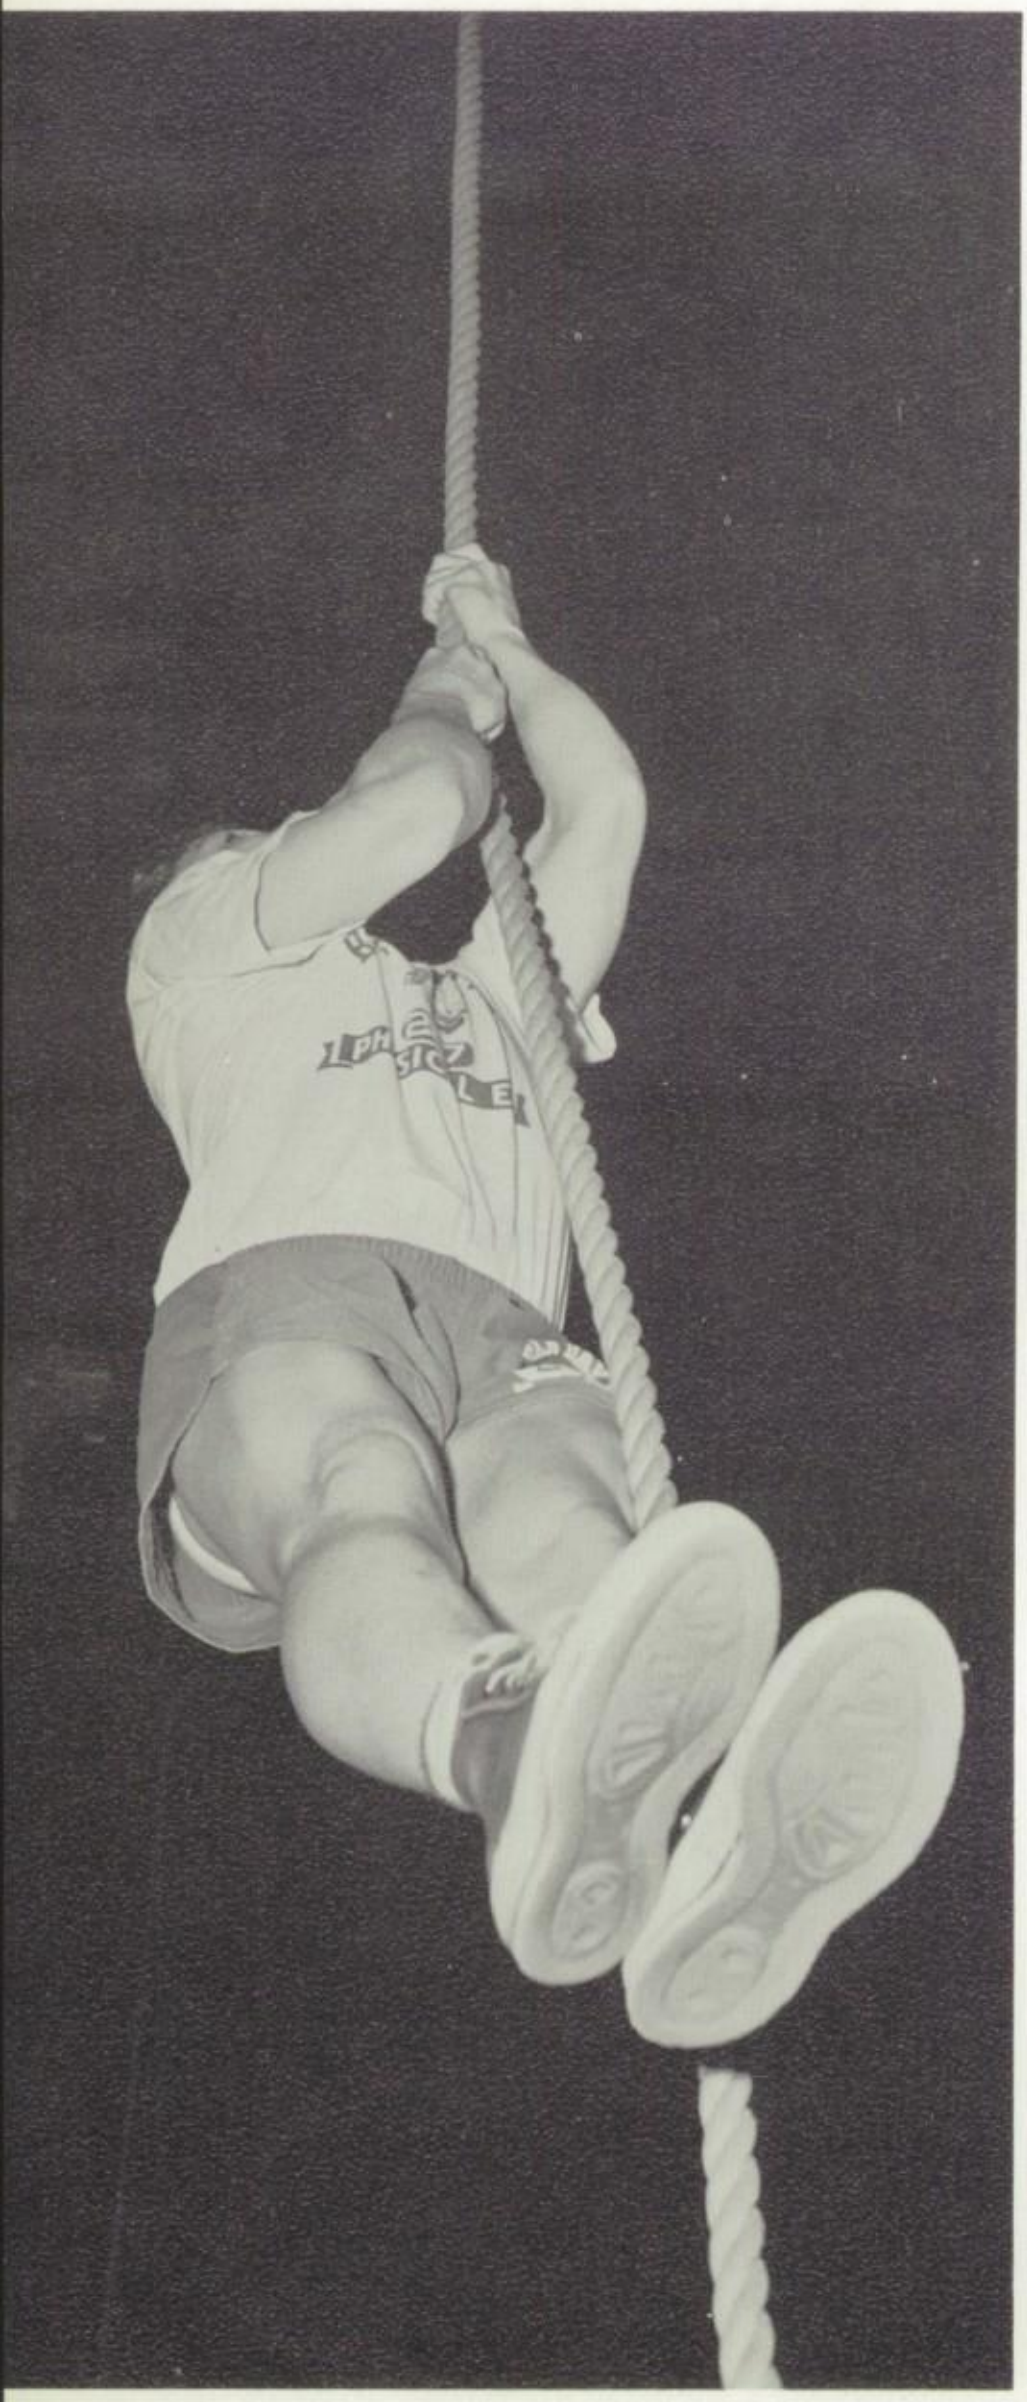
Do we give enough credit to the behind-the-scene worker? One of B.D.'s greatest behind-the-scene workers is Mr. Ronnie Doak. He is the fellow who spends hours slaving with those marching maids who strut in front of our marching Giant Ben Davis Band.

If you were to say "take me to your Leader," Mr. Ralph Chandler would be the one you would meet. This guy is the big boss of the music department.

The beautiful strains of "The Sound of Music" were heard coming from a small musical group at the Spring Festival. This small group was the Ben Davis orchestra, conducted by a very small lady, Miss Carolyn Bugher.

This next man has his own "baby." It is the statewide known Ben Davis Dance Band, directed by Mr. Gene Smith.

Music teachers were: Mr. Ronald Doak, Mr. Ralph Chandler, Mrs. Lorna Walker, Miss Carolyn Bugher, Mr. Gene Smith.



Reaching for the rafters, Dick Lauffer, tarzan of the gym class, intently eyes his distant goal and sets a quick pace for getting there.

What class do you see boys holding onto ropes and swinging from the ceiling, girls shrieking from a blow by a dodge ball, and combined classes dancing? Why of course, everyone knows this was the gym class.

At least two semesters of physical education was required for all students of Ben Davis; and girls enrolled in advanced gym, also.

Physical education not only helped to put the students in good condition, but it also provided a helpful break in the students' day.

Up in the Air or On

As members of the apponent team stare open-mouthed, Carol Hutchings leaps high and stretches to return a hard hit volley ball in gym class.

Learning the mechanical operations of maneuvering a car are learned by "proxy" in the Drivers' Ed. classes. Here Shiela Ripbarger, Tom Thompson, Joe Stiles, and Sue Williams oversee the actions and progress exhibited by Syrena Renner.

The Road---Safety, Health Is Our Code

One of the required subjects for graduation at Ben Davis is Health and Safety. The Health and Safety Department received new first aid equipment for simulated wounds.

One of the popular courses, Drivers' Education, had new equipment such as a new Link trainer for simulated driving in the classrooms, new pyscho-physio equipment for eyes and ears, plus a 1961 Ford and a 1960 Chevrolet in which to "hit the road."

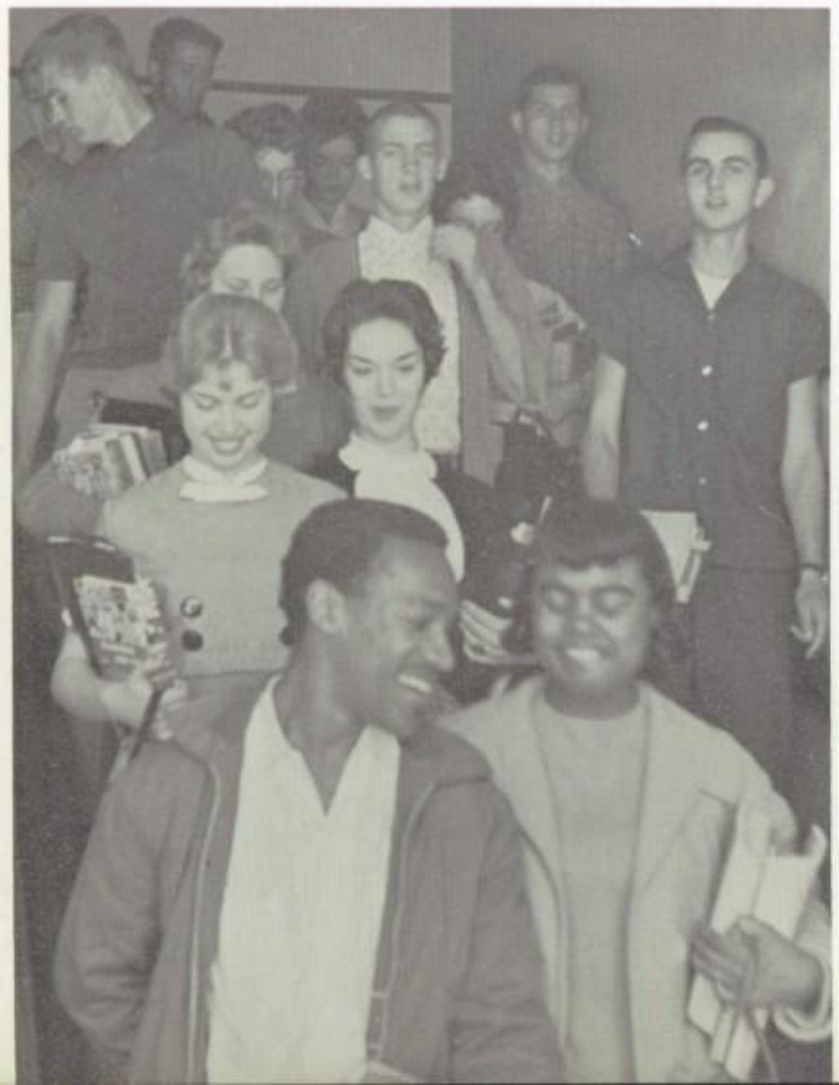
Applying a tourniquet on a boy's leg, which is severely gashed below the knee, these students practice first aid. The gash is really a simulated wound.

As soon as the 2:50 bell rings, the doors burst open, and students flood out.



2:50--Students

"School's out!"--For the day, anyway.

Usually this was the time when pupils flew from their classrooms to meet their steadies and friends, squeezed up or down the jam-packed stairs, dashed to their lockers to grab needed books and to discard unneeded ones, and scurried to their cars or buses to get a seat or a ride home.

However, sometimes the rush wasn't so great because pupils frequently stayed for club meetings and sports practices.

Those unrushed Ben Davisites leisurely walked to their destinations unless, of course, they had to make a telephone call to contact a parent or friend to chauffeur them home.

Then, off to their destinations they went!

When the bell rings, the exits swell with leaving students.

Occasionally students, rushed to use the phone, chance to meet this type character who is chatting merrily with one of his "acquaintances."

Race to Lockers, Buses, Club Meetings

"Hay! wait for me!" screams this almost forgotten student.

Voting was voluntary this year. Operated by the Student Council, this was a typical scene at the polls where two-thirds of the students voted.

Council Sparks Up;

"Is everyone ready for the question?" asked Student Council President Larry Henderson.

"Question!" chimed the members of the Ben Davis Student Council. This answer could be heard at any of the council's meetings.

The Student Council, organized only six years ago, was the go-between for the students and teachers. More privileges for seniors, honor letters, and music in the Cafeteria were some of the council's projects.

With new sponsors, Mr. John Shaw and Mr. Mimis Antonopoulos, the council decided to "clean house" and rewrite the constitution. They included new articles on election of council representatives and class officers. Another project was reorganizing the monitor system. The once annual Hobo Day was dropped on the advice of the faculty.

Other projects sponsored by the council were the Homecoming parade and dance, election of the Homecoming queen and her court, and the Mid-Winter Whirl, the winter semi-formal dance for all pupils. Other activities were: Teacher Appreciation Day, spring elections, and College Day.

The Ben Davis High School Honor Society is an organization thought of with much respect and high regard. The association included approximately sixty members who were juniors and seniors. Ten sophomores were probationary members.

To be qualified for membership, a student had to possess the qualities of character, leadership, and service as well as a high scholastic average.

Since its organization in 1956, the club's objective has been to encourage high scholarship, to give helpful leadership, to render service with a purpose, and to maintain a worthy character.

The often branded "book worms" found much time for club activities. They had a pitch-in picnic dinner, sponsored an Honor Hop for students who made the high honor roll, initiated new members in a ceremony before the freshmen and the initiates' parents, and later gave a banquet for all members and their parents. The Honor Society also awarded Larry Henderson with a $100 scholarship.

The sponsor of this active group were: Miss Olive Carruthurs, Mrs. Helen Poince, and Mr. Robert Seaman.

Explaining the symbols of the National Honor Society is Robert Rigdon backed by Larry Henderson, Ted Winings, Mike Sterrett, Mary Ann Spahr, and Donna Buzzird.

Honor Society Has Honor Student Boom

Busily decorating the Christmas tree with handmade ornaments and tinsel, these Trialge members had the task of getting the Cafeteria into the Christmas spirit.

2 & 2 =5---Yes, math is a very important subject to everyone! Math can be fun, too. This is proved by the various math clubs at Ben Davis.

The Trialge Club encourages its members to bring various kinds of puzzling math problems to the regular meetings of the math club. The only requirements to be a member of this club are to be in a math class or to have completed a minor in math.

Entering into its third year in the national honorary society, the Mu Alpha Theta gives honor to those students who have excelled in mathematics courses.

To attain membership in the math honorary, juniors and seniors must have maintained a B average in their math classes, and they were not allowed to have any grades below C for eligibility. A regular business meeting of the Mu Alpha Theta was conducted and afterwards the pupils took over to present a program. Often programs were combined with the regular math club, Trialge.

Officers of Mu Alpha Theta were: Robert Rigdon, president; Wally Bucklew, vice-president; and Sandy Norquest, secretary-treasurer.

On wandering through the halls in the Wayne Central Building, how often did you wonder what that peculiar odor penetrating the air was? It was probably the ancient remains of an experiment set up by the science club the night before.

Phi Chi, the science club, though one of the newest clubs at Ben Davis, was always busily conducting various experiments which, according to Mr. Daryl Miller, club sponsor along with Mrs. Kathleen Slough, "were not only educational, but enjoyable as well."

Among the club's more interesting activities were dry ice and burning carbon disulfide experiments, a talk on the evolution of the earth, a "prized" gift exchange at the Christmas party, and a field trip on which the members toured the Weir Cook Airport.

The 1961 club president was Robert Rigdon. Assisting him were: Allan Abbott, vice-president; Carol Peck, secretary ; Melvin Scott, treasurer; Tom Crandal, equipment; and Mary Ann Spahr, reporter.

With the aid of Physics instructor, Mrs. Kathleen Slough, Larry Henderson attempts to demonstrate a gyroscope with a leaded bicycle wheel at a club meeting.

Chemicals Christen New Phi Chi Club

SPQR Captivates;

"Salve amicus," was a greeting in Latin classes and the Latin Club, Senatus Populusque Romanus or SPQR. From 350 Latin pupils, 200 participated in this club sponsored by Mrs. Helen Wampler, Mrs. Helen Mercer, and Mrs. Shirley Lynch. The Roman Banquet, whose theme was "Dino's Place", was the club's big event.

At the beginning of the second semester was a slave sale at which slaves, new members of SPQR, were bought. Contributions were made to a scholarship fund for future Latin teachers and projects were undertaken such as: donating food and toys to needy families at Christmas and Thanksgiving, serving the Lion's Club, and winning the prize for the best float at the Homecoming.

Also the club was honored to sponsor the national Latin convention at Indiana University in the summer.

Serving at the Roman Banquet are Latin pupils who weren't initiated at the beginning of the year.

"Parlez vous francais?"---"Do you speak French?" Other pupils did this year. Suggestions made in previous years to have French lessons materialized into not only classes but also a club. Meetings were conducted in French; a program was presented at each meeting along with the regular business.

Already this year the newly initiated club accomplished several projects, such as: singing for the P-TA in French and taking Christmas toys to the Marion College orphanage.

The main purposes of this organization were to develop better speaking ability in French, to learn French songs, customs, and more about the country, and possibly to attain pen pals.

Club officers were: Lynda Tomlin, president; Denny Elmore, vice-president; Jo Ann Lyons, secretary; and Jim Watson, treasurer. Sponsoring the organization were Mrs. Linda Masters and Mrs. Sue Greenlee.

Busy Spotlight, Keyhole Crews Compile

Developing their "nose for news" was the main task of the staff members of the Spotlight. They were also kept busy with outside activities including the celebration of the Silver Anniversary of the Spotlight, the Harvest Swing dance with the theme "Dogpatch U.S.A.," and the annual sale of valentine corsages.

One of the outstanding memories of every Spotlight member is dead-line week. Reporters ran all over school seeking information at the last minute. Stories sent to the printers then return for a final check for errors. Staying until 7 p.m. wasn't unusual for the staff in deadling week. Often adding to last minute confusion were wrestling meets in the Annex gym located outside the Spotlight room.

Roz Webb is studying the 1961 Senior Magazine. Roz was one of those who were very instrumental in the writing and publishing of this magazine for seniors only.

Sending Ben Davis news to local papers and the Teen Star was the job of News Bureau members: Marilyn Longmire, Roz Webb, Mr. James Ray, sponsor, Linda Pedlow, and Prissy Dillow.

Every student who has been a part of the Keyhole staff will agree that it is one of the toughest, but most pleasant and rewarding experiences he will ever have.

Putting a yearbook together not only means getting out of classes and meeting new people, but it also means meeting deadlines, accepting criticism, and working during school, after school, and on summer vacation.

There were many pleasant memories to remember about Keyhole experiences this year----the "below zero" temperature of the Keyhole room, copy that just didn't seem to make the deadline, colorful paintings by talented staff artists, birthday parties, and dozens of pictures of unknown people laying all over the table where the annual was somehow planned and written.

One of the most pleasant memories was the colorful Publication's Banquet at the Italian Village. But amid all the distractions, interruptions, and "fun" times, the Keyhole staff finally assembled a grade "A" yearbook.

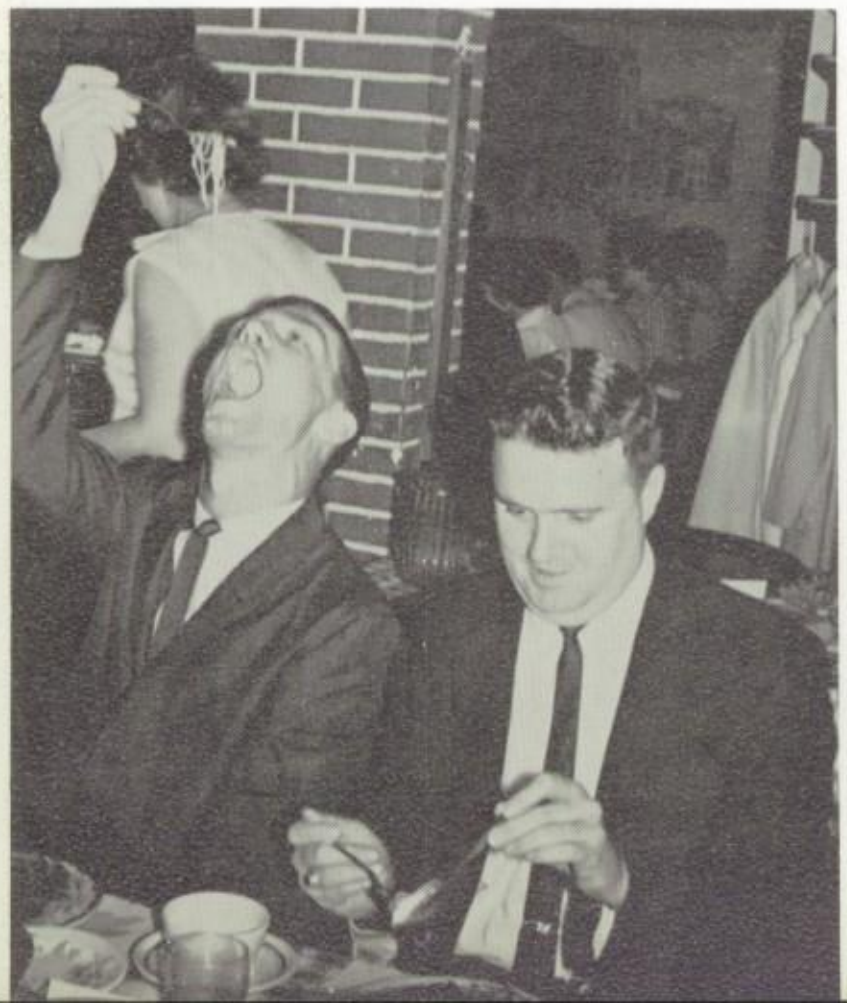
Outstanding journalists of the Spotlight and Keyhole staffs worked very hard to become members of the Quill and Scroll, the journalism honorary sponsored by Mr. James Ray. The society functioned to give recognition to those who have worked energetically for either the annual or school paper.

Activities included hosting at the Publication's Banquet where the Spotlight and Keyhole staffs for the coming year were announced. Gold and Silver Key Awards were presented to four junior and senior boys and girls who were outstanding in both scholastics and activities. The organization also sponsored a writing contest in the spring to encourage future journalists.

"You do it your way; I'll do it mine," comments Dean Richardson to Mr. Bob Hughes as they argue about the correct way to eat spaghetti.



Being selected to have the Ben Davis Quill and Scroll chapter named in honor of him, Mr. Max Galloway, senior picture photographer, accepts his plaque from Patty Cottey.

Own Ideas Express

The National Forensics League, composed of forty members directed by Mr. Donald Hansel, represented and established recognition throughout the state for Ben Davis.

This group attended nearly twenty contests during the year where BD'ites participated against other schools and students in the fields which included: debate, poetry, extemporaneous speaking, discussion, radio, original oratory, and dramatic, oratorical, and humorous interpretation.

Each spring the NFL has an Awards Banquet to install new officers and to award seniors for outstanding work in their respective areas. This year seniors, Ron Kanouse, Larry Henderson, and Ron Rothrock were honored with the long-awaited presentation of awards for having worked hardest and for having gained the most winning points.

Mirthful BD'ites

Perhaps they won't attain world recognition as a movie star or a Broadway actor or actress, but they did attain recognition and admiration of the Mask and Gavel and all other pupils at Ben Davis.

Who are we talking about? No one else but the Thespians, honor group of the Mask and Gavel dramatic club!

Eligibility for membership was achieved by first becoming a member of the Mask and Gavel Club and then by earning ten points, which was obtained by acting, ushering, selling tickets, painting scenery, directing small plays, and working back stage. Aspirants were then voted on by the Thespian group for membership.

Initiation into the club consisted of memorizing and reciting portions of Hamlet at the formal initiation banquet.

Only Thespians and NFL members are eligible to hold office in the Mask and Gavel Club whose purpose is to entertain and create an interest in dramatics in the student body of Ben Davis.

This year's fall play was "Our Town". Nancy Thomas, as "Emily," and Randy Morehead, as "George," were in the leading roles.

The spring play was "Harvey". "Harvey's" leads were Earl Houck, Bonnie Welch and Glenna Clevelle. Several other one act plays were given by various members of the dramatic club.

Keep up to Date

Some people "sing for their supper;" the Ben Davis choirs, under the guidance of Mrs. Lorna Walker, however, sang just for the fun of it. Approximately forty-two boys and girls formed the A Cappella Choir, which was the advance choir at Ben Davis.

Choir members relenquished much of their time so they could make the A Cappella Choir one of the best. Their time was occupied by long practices, contests, and music festivals.

This year the choir participated in the production of the musical, "The King and I." The choir also sang several numbers in the "Giant Revue of '61," which was presented in the spring.

The Cadet Choir was possibly the only choir at Ben Davis publicized the least. Like the A Cappella Choir the Cadet Choir also made up of both boys and girls, who, in the future, will make up the majority of the A Cappella Choir.

Singing at various churches, entering contests, and taking part in the "Giant Revue of '61" were just a few of their activities.

Winning the highest awards in the music department were: Marlene McLain and Bill Frances.

Skill, Sparkle Secure Marching Giants

"Onward, ever onward," think these footsore and exhausted, but thrilled band members before the Capitol.

State Fair Champs!!

The Ben Davis band has gone places and is still going. The main event this year was the thrilling trip to Washington D.C. to participate in the Inaugural parade in January. The 160 member band left January 17 on five Greyhound buses. Touring first, then marching in cold, snowy weather, they passed the reviewing stands with pride for the state of Indiana.

First place in the State Fair was also awarded the unique Marching Giants. Receiving a six foot trophy, the band earned the highest honor in Indiana.

Main money raising projects for the trip were: selling band candy, soliciting for donations from business firms, and serving Lion's Club.

Under the direction of Mr. Ralph Chandler, the band made a name for itself as a concert band and as a marching band. Assistant directors included Mr. Ronald Doak and Mr. Gene Smith.

Fair First, Inaugural Parade Position

Strutting proudly before newly inaugurated President John F. Kennedy's reviewing stand, the Marching Giants "Show their stuff" for being selected to represent Indiana in the unforgettable parade.

The Dance Band, Pep band, Cadet band and the Flag Corps all serve Ben Davis proudly. Over fifty per cent of the members in the Mighty Marching Giants worked their way up from the preparatory band, the Cadet Band, directed by Mr. Gene Smith.

Music to dream by and dance by was given to us by the Ben Davis Dance Band also directed by Mr. Smith. Several members of the marching band also played in this group, that traveled all over the state playing for other school's dances.

Those loud drums that you heard at the Friday night home basketball games, along with the rhythmic horns were not the state militia coming to take control of the screaming mob, it was just the school Pep Band. Pep was its first name which it so rightly deserved, because pep was what it gave to everyone who attended, ---the team, the Booster Club, and the fans!

The "Flashing Flags" as they were called, were another division of the Marching Giants. The twenty-six charming ladies that carried the new fifty star flags as the Band marches were picked from hundreds of girls who tried out in the fall.

Sunshiners Spread Sparkling Spirits;

Queen Sue Lewis and her escort Jim Waymire enjoy Linda Tomlin's hula dance at the Sunshine Dance. The theme was "Hawaiian Paradise."

"Helpfulness and kindness to others." These are the words which guide the Sunshine Society of Ben Davis High School.

Newcomers to the society were installed at a formal initiation in October as the new officers conducted the program.

These new officers included: Susan Baldauf, president; Melinda Walters, vice-president; Bonnie Paton, secretary; Donna Huston, treasurer; and Betty Stegemoller, point secretary.

Activities of the year were providing a Thanksgiving basket for a needy family and clothing a child at Christmas time. Also a program of caroling and the giving of small gifts during the Christmas season to the Nursing Home.

Sponsoring the organization were Mrs. Dorthy Lempke, Mrs. Wilma Jay, Mrs. Florence Gaerte, and Mrs. Virginia Parkinson.

The annual formal dance was April 15. "Hawaiian Paradise", the theme of the dance left much to the imagination of the decorating committee and resulted in breath-taking decorations. Palm trees, imitation orchids, monkeys, and dreamy music which was provided by Dean Berry's Band completed an evening to be remembered.

The Mother's Tea which was to acquaint Sunshine member's mothers with the sponsors and to entertain them, was highlighted by the annual fashion show. Sunshine members modeled their own clothes and wore anything from formals to bathing suits.

Pointing to the countries they represent at the Hi-Y's Model U. N. are costumed Larry Carter, Jim Watson, Larry Swick, and Dennis Elmore.

Members of the Ben Davis Hi-Y took an active part in this year's Model United Nations, which is the principal program sponsored by the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y clubs of Marion County.

Five United Nations countries were represented by twelve boys from Ben Davis who dressed in the costumes of their countries. George Wildman was chairman of the Human Rights Committee, also.

Among its many other activities, the club sponsored various sock-hops and the Thanksgiving convocation.

The club's purpose is to create, maintain, and extend throughout the school, home, and community high standards of Christian living and character.

Sponsors of the club, Mr. Richard Davidson and Mr. Rolland Voris, took an active interest in all activities of the club. Composed of mainly juniors and sophomores, the club commanded an excellent performance.

Mouths agape from hearty yelling, Booster Club members in their Sectionals outfits give vent freely to "pent-up" emotions at BD's final appearance in the tourney with Tech.

During a hot game with Speedway, the Booster Club found it necessary to jump, clap, scream, and yell to get a win from the team.

"Victory, victory is our cry!" is the anxious shout heard ringing through the gym at ballgames. This is the cry of the Ben Davis Booster Club.

Officers of this year's Booster Club were: Sandy Miller, president; Susan Claycomb, vice-president; Sandy Norquest, secretary; Marna Mason, treasurer; and Patty Cottey, publicity chairman.

During County Tourney and Sectionals, the Booster Club was the object of admiring glances. Under the direction of Miss Marilyn Benson, sponsor, the Booster Club always looked outstanding.

Some of the activities of the club this year were: entering of a float in the Homecoming parade, a record hop, and serving for a Lion's Club supper.

One of the main events was a bonfire before the night of Homecoming. The guests of honor were real Indians!

One can be sure the Giants always have a winning season with the help of the Ben Davis Booster Club!

If you wanted to buy an advanced ticket to a ballgame or rent a locker, where did you go? The answer is the Bookden.

The Bookden was one of the busiest places all year. Because of the constant rush of students, Mr. Trees had thirty-five assistants helping with the business.

"There were many jobs connected with running the Bookden," stated Mr. Trees. "For example: Bookkeeping, payroll, running cafeteria machines, stocking shelves and waiting on customers.

With all the handling of money and checks and all the bookkeeping to do, a disastrous happening would be for all the lights to go ut. "It doesn't bother us to much," Mr. Trees added, "because we keep a supply of candles on hand!"

Frankie Ann Tewell takes Ron Cunningham's temperature in the clinic where cots seem rather short.

Why did girls sign up to work for Mrs. Ursal Somer in the clinic? There were several reasons. By working in the Senior Building or Annex clinics some of the girls could obtain practical first-aid knowledge. They could also learn to recognize medicines and their proper applications.

Many girls wanted to work in the clinic just for the satisfaction of helping their fellow classmates. They enjoyed soothing aches and pains and gladly lended a sympathetic ear to troubled students.

Occasionally a serious case appeared. Once a clinic girl had to run to the Cafeteria to get orange juice for a diabetic. Of course, there were the "crank" cases: the tall, muscle-bound wrestler who had a terrible headache and could barely open the clinic door because of weakness, the boy so desperate to get out of class that he bit himself to get to the clinic, those with "just terrible" headache colds without temperatures, and those who are very ill until it's time for lunch.

Cafe Workers Cater to Hungry Pupils

At eleven o'clock every day, a bell rang, and the pupils made a mad dash for the Cafeteria. It was lunch time!

This was the time these expressions were heard: "Crowder!" "Stop pushing!" "Hey! That's my foot you're stepping on!"

In the lunch line came the big decision--what to have for lunch. Mrs. Martha Barnhart, head of the Cafeteria recommended the "type A" lunch, which consisted of a meat dish with vegetables, a salad, a dessert, and milk for forty cents.

Extensive planning was required to prepare a lunch that not only pleased the majority but also met the high standards required of all high school cafeterias.

There were approximately ten cooks who prepared the meals every day and twenty student helpers who helped serve the lunch and washed dishes.

Amidst pots, pans, and paraphernalia the BD cooks prepared protein-plush platters.

Providing both required and entertaining literature is the primary obligation of the school library. Student librarians keep busy themselves collecting and reshelving books that have been returned via the deposit boxes.

A library science course is offered to girls in their freshman year. Girls who enrolled in this class studied arrangement of the library, Dewey decimal system, and placement of reference books and magazines.

During second semester these students worked with senior student librarians to provide library service for students and teachers.

The library has over 8000 books, subscribes to 80 magazines, and has 32 drawers of pamphlet material, including biographical, occupational, and general reference material. The library circulates about 2500 b o o k s , pamphlets, and magazines monthly during the school year.

Letterman's Club Aids at BD Games

The Lettermen's Club was made up of the varsity award winners in all sports at Ben Davis. They were sponsored by Mr. Kenny Cox and Mr. Howard Williams.

The men in the club ran the concession stand at all home football games, selling coffee, cokes, and hot dogs. The profits from these sales went into a fund for insurance for all freshmen, reserve, and varsity football players. Lettermen also held the ropes at half-time, pre-game, and postgame at basketball games.

An annual event, the Lettermen's Club Dance was in the Cafeteria. A fashion show was planned for entertainment.

At the close of the year, the club had a banquet at the Iron Skillet for its members.

Officiating at the 1961 meetings were: Bob Willoughby, president; Steve Cline, vice-president; Bob Williams, secretary; and Gary Simmons, treasurer.

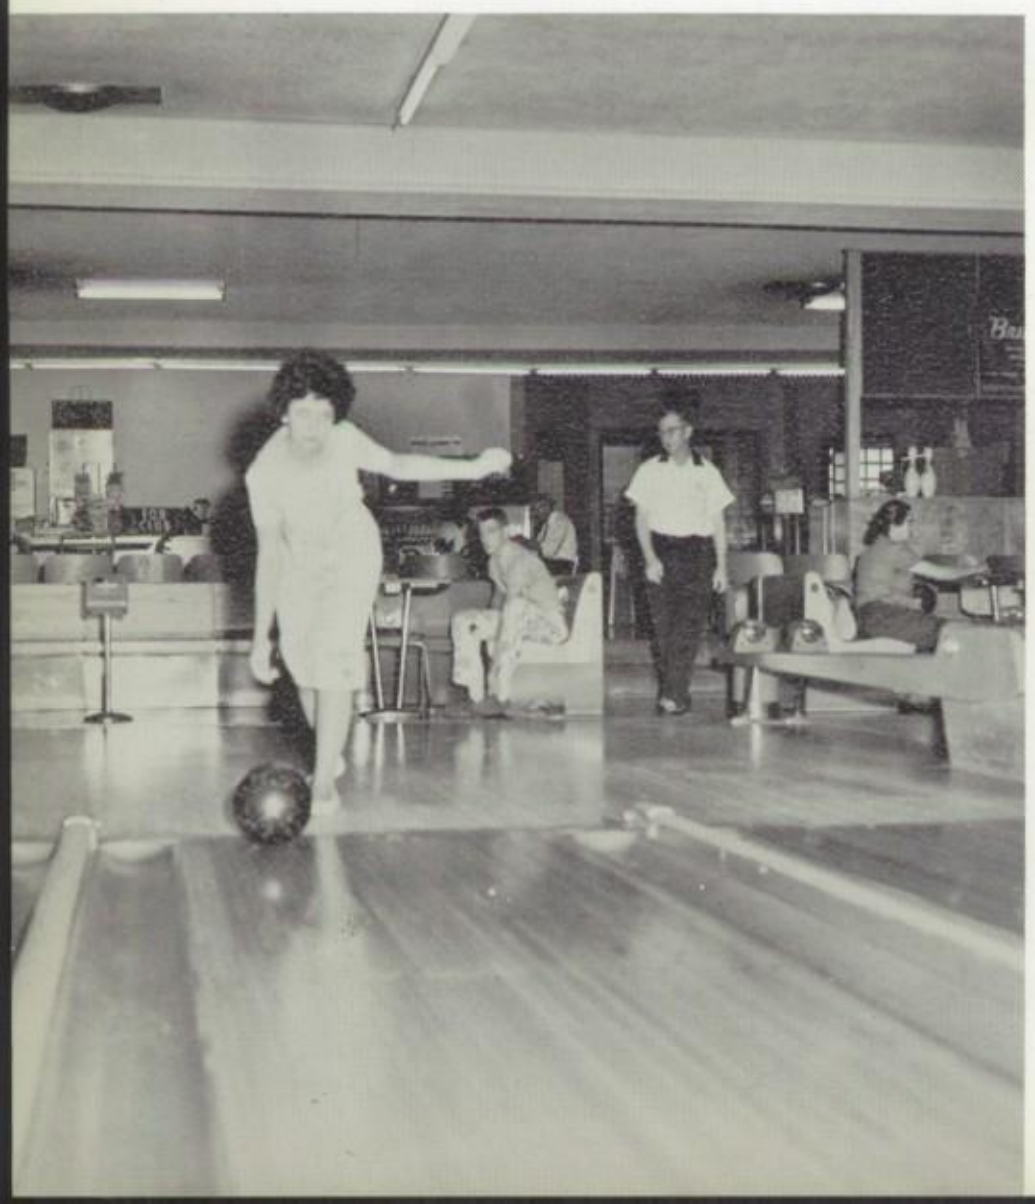
Jeff Gehle, Johnny Kiefer, Mary Coyle, and Jeff Russel, the top Tuesday League bowling team, are here posing with their first place trophies.

Give It a Heave, the Pins Will Leave

At the Lynhurst Bowl, senior Rose Ann Orr sends the ball down the alley with high hopes for a strike as Bill Hart watches amazed.



"Alley-Gators, Little Things, and Carpenter's Clowns" were only a few of the names that adorned the individual teams of the Tuesday and Wednesday night bowling leagues.

Officers for this year were: Pat Sheppard, president; Sandy Norquest, vice-president; Donna Buzzird, Sue Holland, Nancy Voight, Fayann Kingery, secretaries; and LeRoy Adams and Ron Kanouse, treasurers.

League high averages were: Donna Buzzird and Bill Spaulding in the Tuesday league with 125 and 176 respectively and Phyllis Cox and Dick Dowdell in the Wednesday league with 142 and 181 respectively. Actual high games went to Ruth Phillips and Jack Ray with 169 and 235 respectively in the Tuesday league and Annette Dunham and Danny Sharp with 195 and 242 in the Wednesday league.

This year's last place champions were: Steve Davis, Fritz Stutz, Paulann Eihanger, and Randy Junkins in the Tuesday league and Marilyn Goad, Denny Ruft, Jeanne Kolbe, and Karen Steele for the Wednesday league.

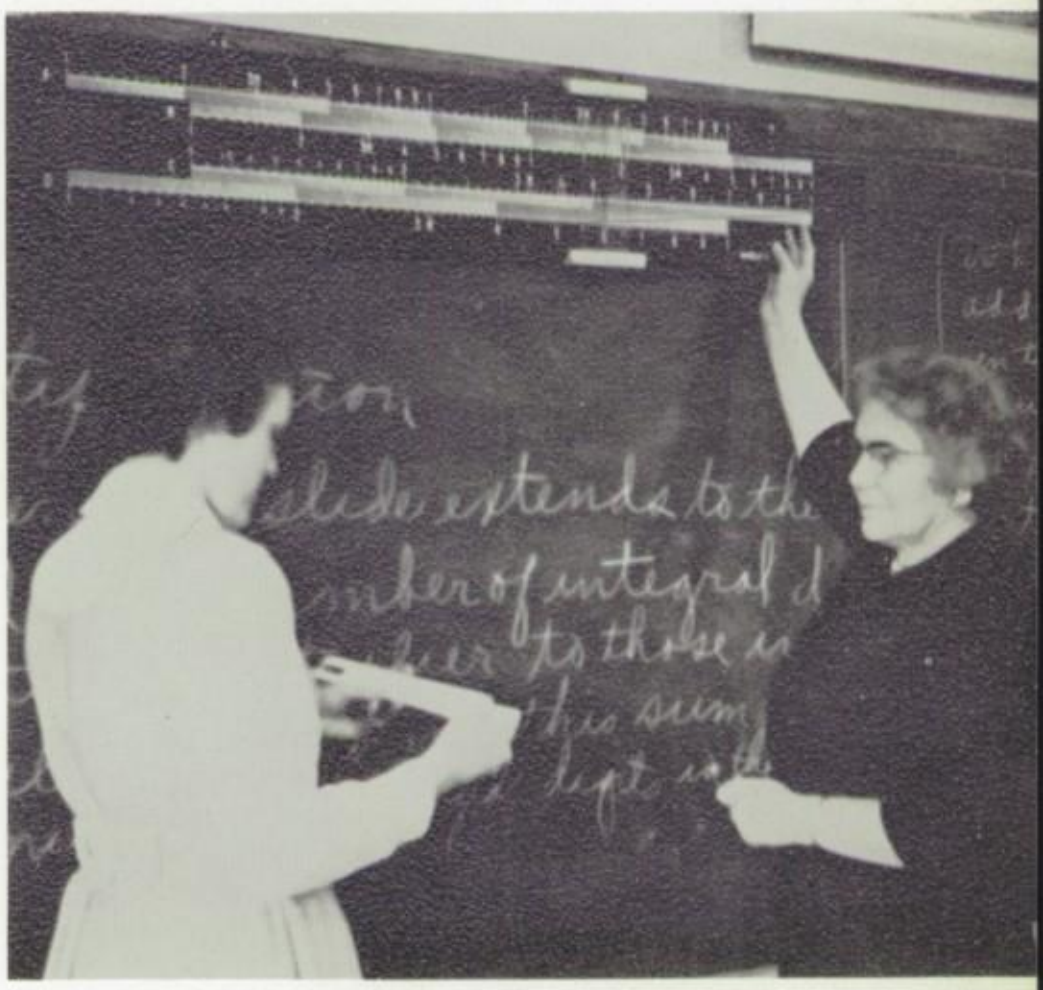
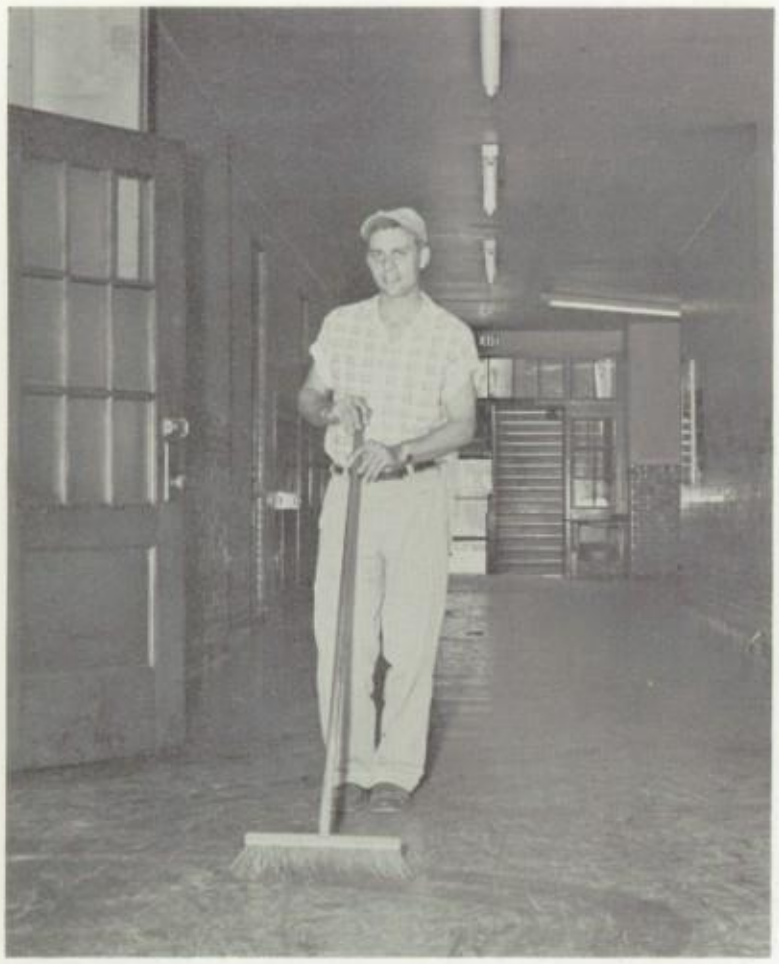
With the aid of the over-sized slide rule, Miss Nina Martin shows a math student how to use the normal-sized one.



The three-year-old Mu Alpha Theta, a national honorary math society, had a simple purpose: to give honor to those students excelling in math courses.

To become members, juniors and seniors maintaining B averages in math submitted their names for consideration by the society. Club members selected new society candidates from those eligible and initiated them during a candlelight ceremony.

Officiating over the Mu Alpha Theta, sponsored by Miss Nina Martin, were: Robert Rigdon, president; George Silca, vice-president; and Sandy Norquest; secretary-treasurer.



Carl Finchem stops to pose during his regular routine of cleaning up after students leave.

As Daylight Ebbs

At last! A pause came--a brief rest after a full day of classwork and a busy afternoon of club activities and sports practices.

Students finally headed home for awhile to eat supper and to squeeze in a little homework before heading back to Ben Davis for night activities.

During this intermission lonely janitors swept, dusted, and cleaned in order to prepare the buildings for the mad rush of students returning for BD's night life.

Jonie Green, Jeanne Kolbe, Sandy Buckley, and Carol Peck are all smiles when their parents arrived to chauffer them home after a science club meeting.

Sports, Social Scenes Steal Spotlight

"Alone, alone, all, all alone--alone in a long, dark hall. . ." A lingering student heads home at long last.

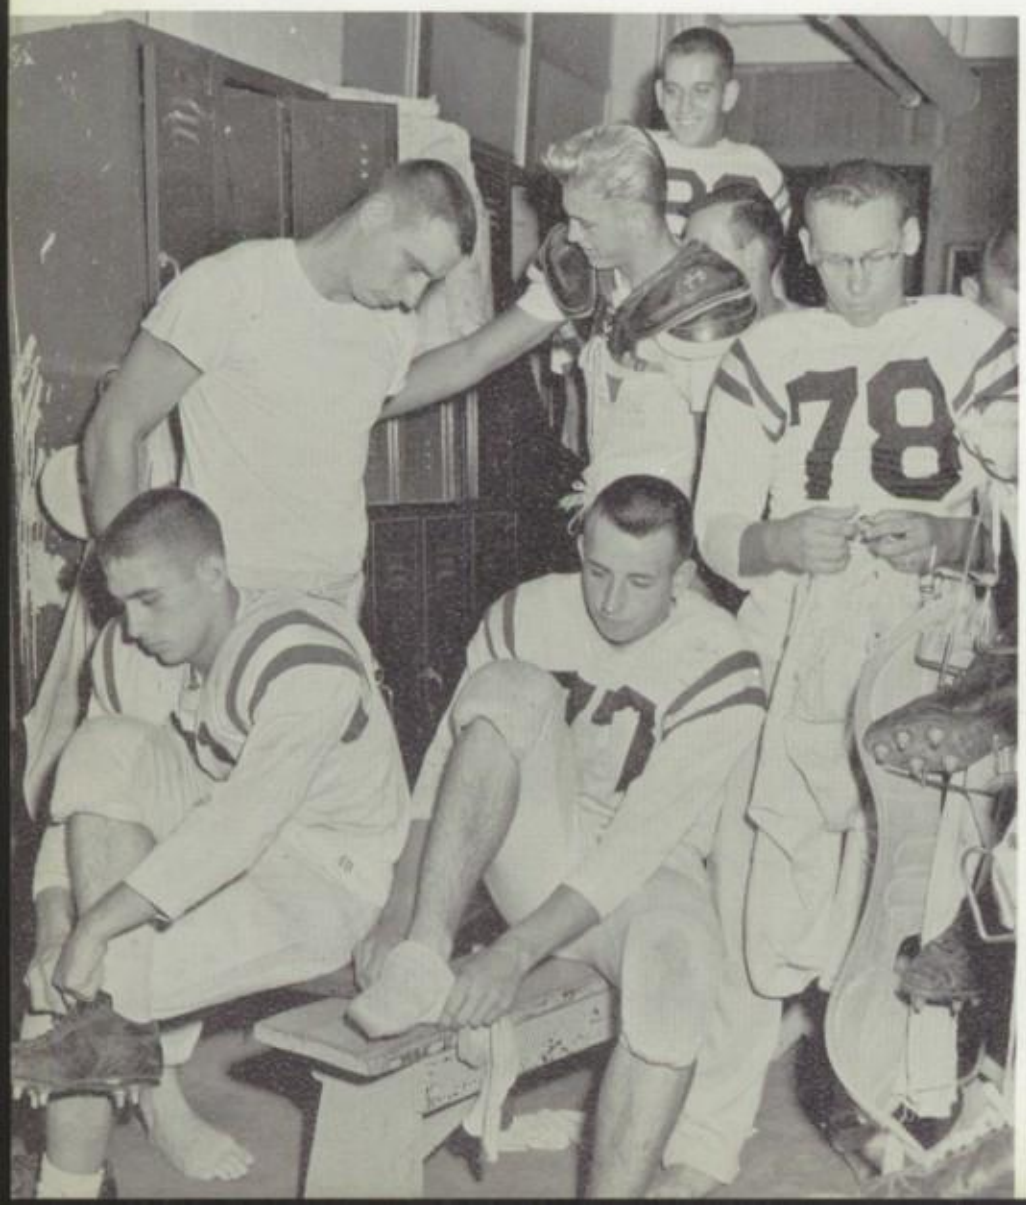
Fighting Ben Davis Giant Teams

Attempting to dress for another rugged game, members of the varsity football discover that finding room to tie a shoe isn't an easily solved problem



Because of the fact that only 60 boys went out for football this year, Coach Woodrow Baker's season was uphill from the very start. The fact that much of the varsity team consisted of inexperienced players accounted for the fact that the "never-say-die" Giants won only one game out of ten.

After losing 3 straight games, the Giants rallied for the Homecoming game to beat Decatur Central by a score of 27 to 0. Unfortunately this win was dimmed by a string of 6 more defeats to end the season.

Captains for this year's team were Mike Bruning and Bob Willoughby.

Because of the resignation of Coach Baker, Mr. Trent Gipson will take over the reins as head football coach in 1962. Mr. Gipson will have considerably more experienced boys on his team whose main goal will be to better this year's record.

The frosh squad did considerably better by ending the season with 4 ties and 3 losses. The fine coaching of Mr. Joe Preda and Mr. Evan Fine was one of the key influences for the little Giants fine season.

Blazing hotly away, the Homecoming Bonfire laps greedily at old bleachers while a packed grandstand of Ben Davisites cheer and chant to build up Homecoming spirits.

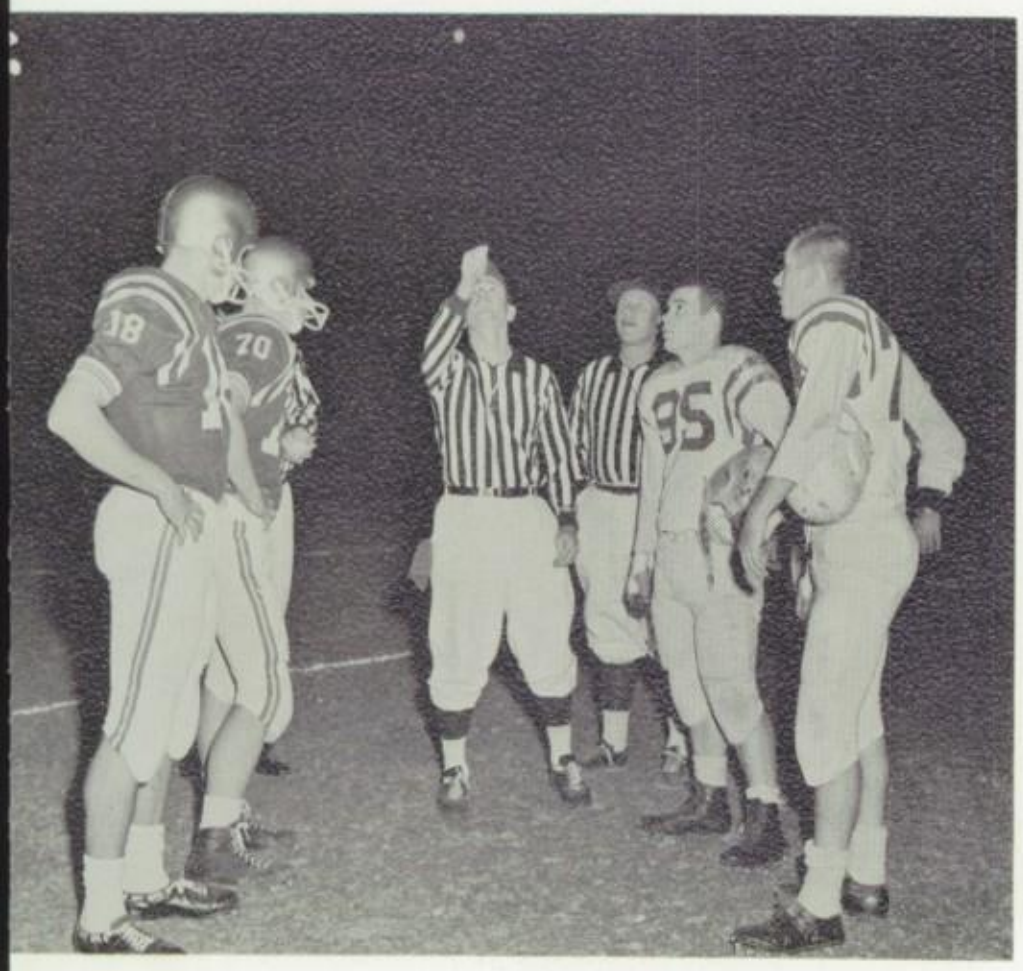
The Homecoming Is a Time for Fun;

Busily assembling the Latin Club float, which eventually won the Best Float award, are Caesar students aided by Mrs. Helen Mercer, sponsor.

Beaming happily, the 1961 Homecoming Court pose regally with their traditional bouquets. Homecoming Queen senior Sandy Kinney, in center, is surrounded by lovelies, Mickey Hopper, sophomore attendant; Sandy Norquest, senior attendant; Sandy Miller, junior attendant, and Nikki Hostetler, freshman attendant.

The Great Game by the Giants Is Won

As the referee flips the coin for goals between BD and Decatur Central, Co-captains Bob Willoughby and Mike Bruning, on the right, anxiously "hawk" the spinning silver.



"Homecoming,"--that magical event at Ben Davis in the fall--that delightfully warm evening when the BD "gridironers" pasted Decatur to the ground with a smashing 26-0 victory-- all this and more.

Of course, football was the main attraction; but when 7:00 p.m. rolled around, everyone's attention was given to a spectacular pre-game parade. It featured sparkling floats, beautiful horses, and the championship Ben Davis High School Marching Giants. The Latin Club, for the second consecutive year, won the best float award.

Not only did the Homecoming have a parade; it also sported a beauty-filled half-time show with rhythmic majorettes, blaring bands, and, last but not least, five bright, shiny Corvettes with five glamorous girls--the queen and her court. Sandy Kinney was the queen after being attendant two years previously. Sandy's court were: Sandy Norquest, senior; Sandy Miller, junior; Mickey Hopper, sophomore; and Nicki Hostetler, freshman.

After the game, Queen Sandy with her court reigned over the standing-room-only dance. Students and alumni danced, gabbed, cheered, and laughed while celebrating the victory.

Long after the lights were out and after everyone had gone home, a giant poster still hung amid the tattered remains of the once gay decorations. It proclaimed: "Make our Homecoming a success" --and it truly was!

In the fall before school began, amidst the heat and dust, a group of young Ben Davisites braved the evils of weather and exhaustion to "get in shape" for the cross country season.

The "thinly-clads", under coach Wendell Hine, posted a sparkling record this year. They won four dual meets, a tri-way meet, and a five-way meet and never placed lower than sixth in invitational meets. Considering Steve Cline was the only one of the members of the varsity team that was a senior, the squad made a pretty good showing.

The Reserve Cross Country squad posted a fine record this year, winning all three of their dual meets, a tri-way meet, and second place in the Southport invitational, which consisted of fifteen schools.

The Frosh "Thinly-Clads" made a commendable performance this year. They never went below first place in any of their meets and finished the year by winning the Freshmen County Cross Country Championship.

from Fearsome Foes

"I think our team will break even this year," said Mr. Joe Preda, wrestling coach, at the beginning of wrestling season.

The varsity team proved this statement to be an understatement as they ended the season with a winning record, which broke the school record.

The varsity team had heros this year: Rudy Dotlich, sophomore, who was first in Sectionals and fourth in Regionals; Don Kappel, senior who placed second in Sectionals; and Paul Reichard, senior, who won the county championship. Morency and Dotlich were undefeated in all the duo-meets.

Over Rover! Don Kappel strains to flip his opponent for the three count and the pin in a varsity wrestling match. Real stamina is needed to keep this pace for six minutes.

Reserve Grapplers Cop County Title;

"Watch it, bud!" says the bottom reserve wrestler as the two BD boys scrap on the mats. The Ben Davis reserves had a good season, winning the county title.

Reserve grapplers posted a near-perfect season this year, winning eleven out of fourteen dual meets and copping the county reserve championship.

The reserve squad battled all the way to the top to gain the coveted title. Those gaining first's in the county competition were: Jim Anderson, Carl Chaleff, Larry Patterson, Wayne Ray, and captain Roy O'Conner. Second place winners were: Gillis Carroll, David Paino, and Danny Shrout. Bill Hausman received a third. Jim Anderson was the only Giant to pin his opponent.

Ben Davis, as a team, placed first with 90 points, followed by Southport with 70, Warren Central with 40, and Lawrence Central with 35.

During the regular season, the matmen defeated such teams as Southport and Attucks. With such fine reserve grapplers as these advancing to the varsity squad next year, the Giants' wrestling squad should improve greatly in the future.

Mammy and Pappy Yokum, Marilyn Longmire and David Meo with Daisie May, Patty Cottey, won the costume prizes at the Spotlight's Dogpatch Dance. Patty Cottey and Wally Bucklew reigned at the dance.

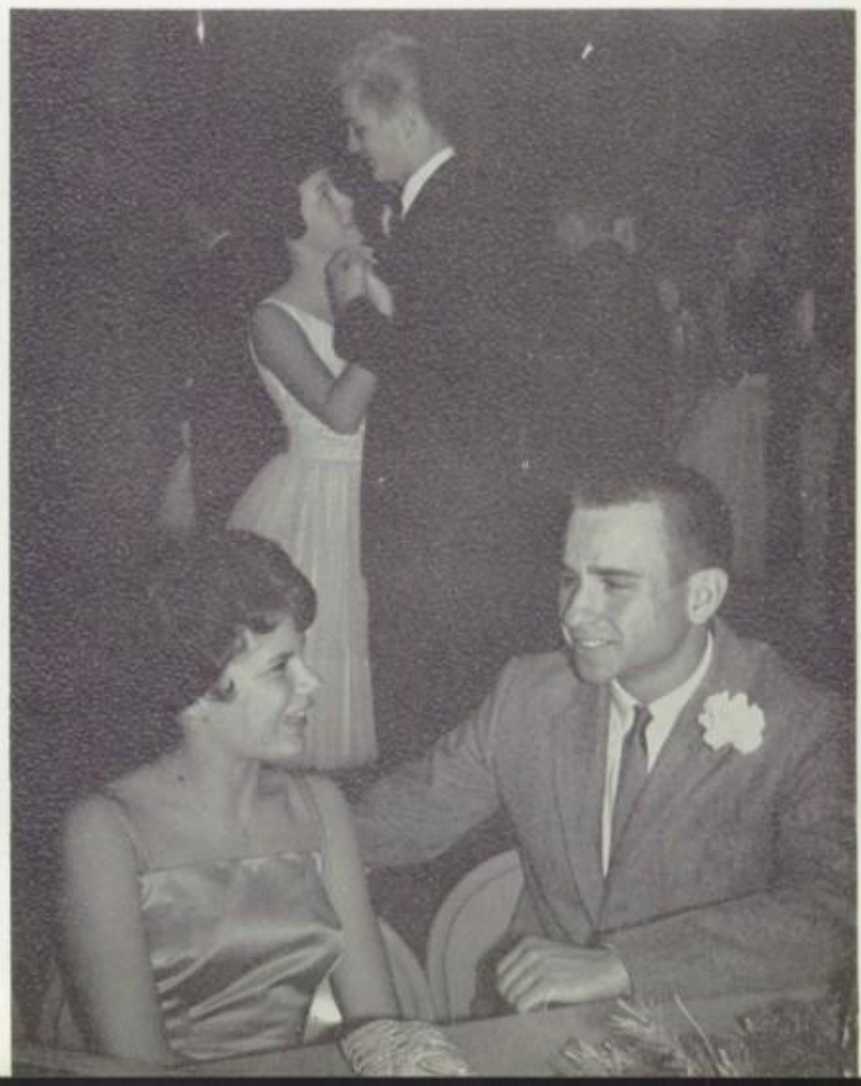
"Et cetera! Et cetera! Et cetera!" exclaims King of Siam, Jerry Priest, to Anna, Janet Warren.

Social Events Highlight Fall, Winter

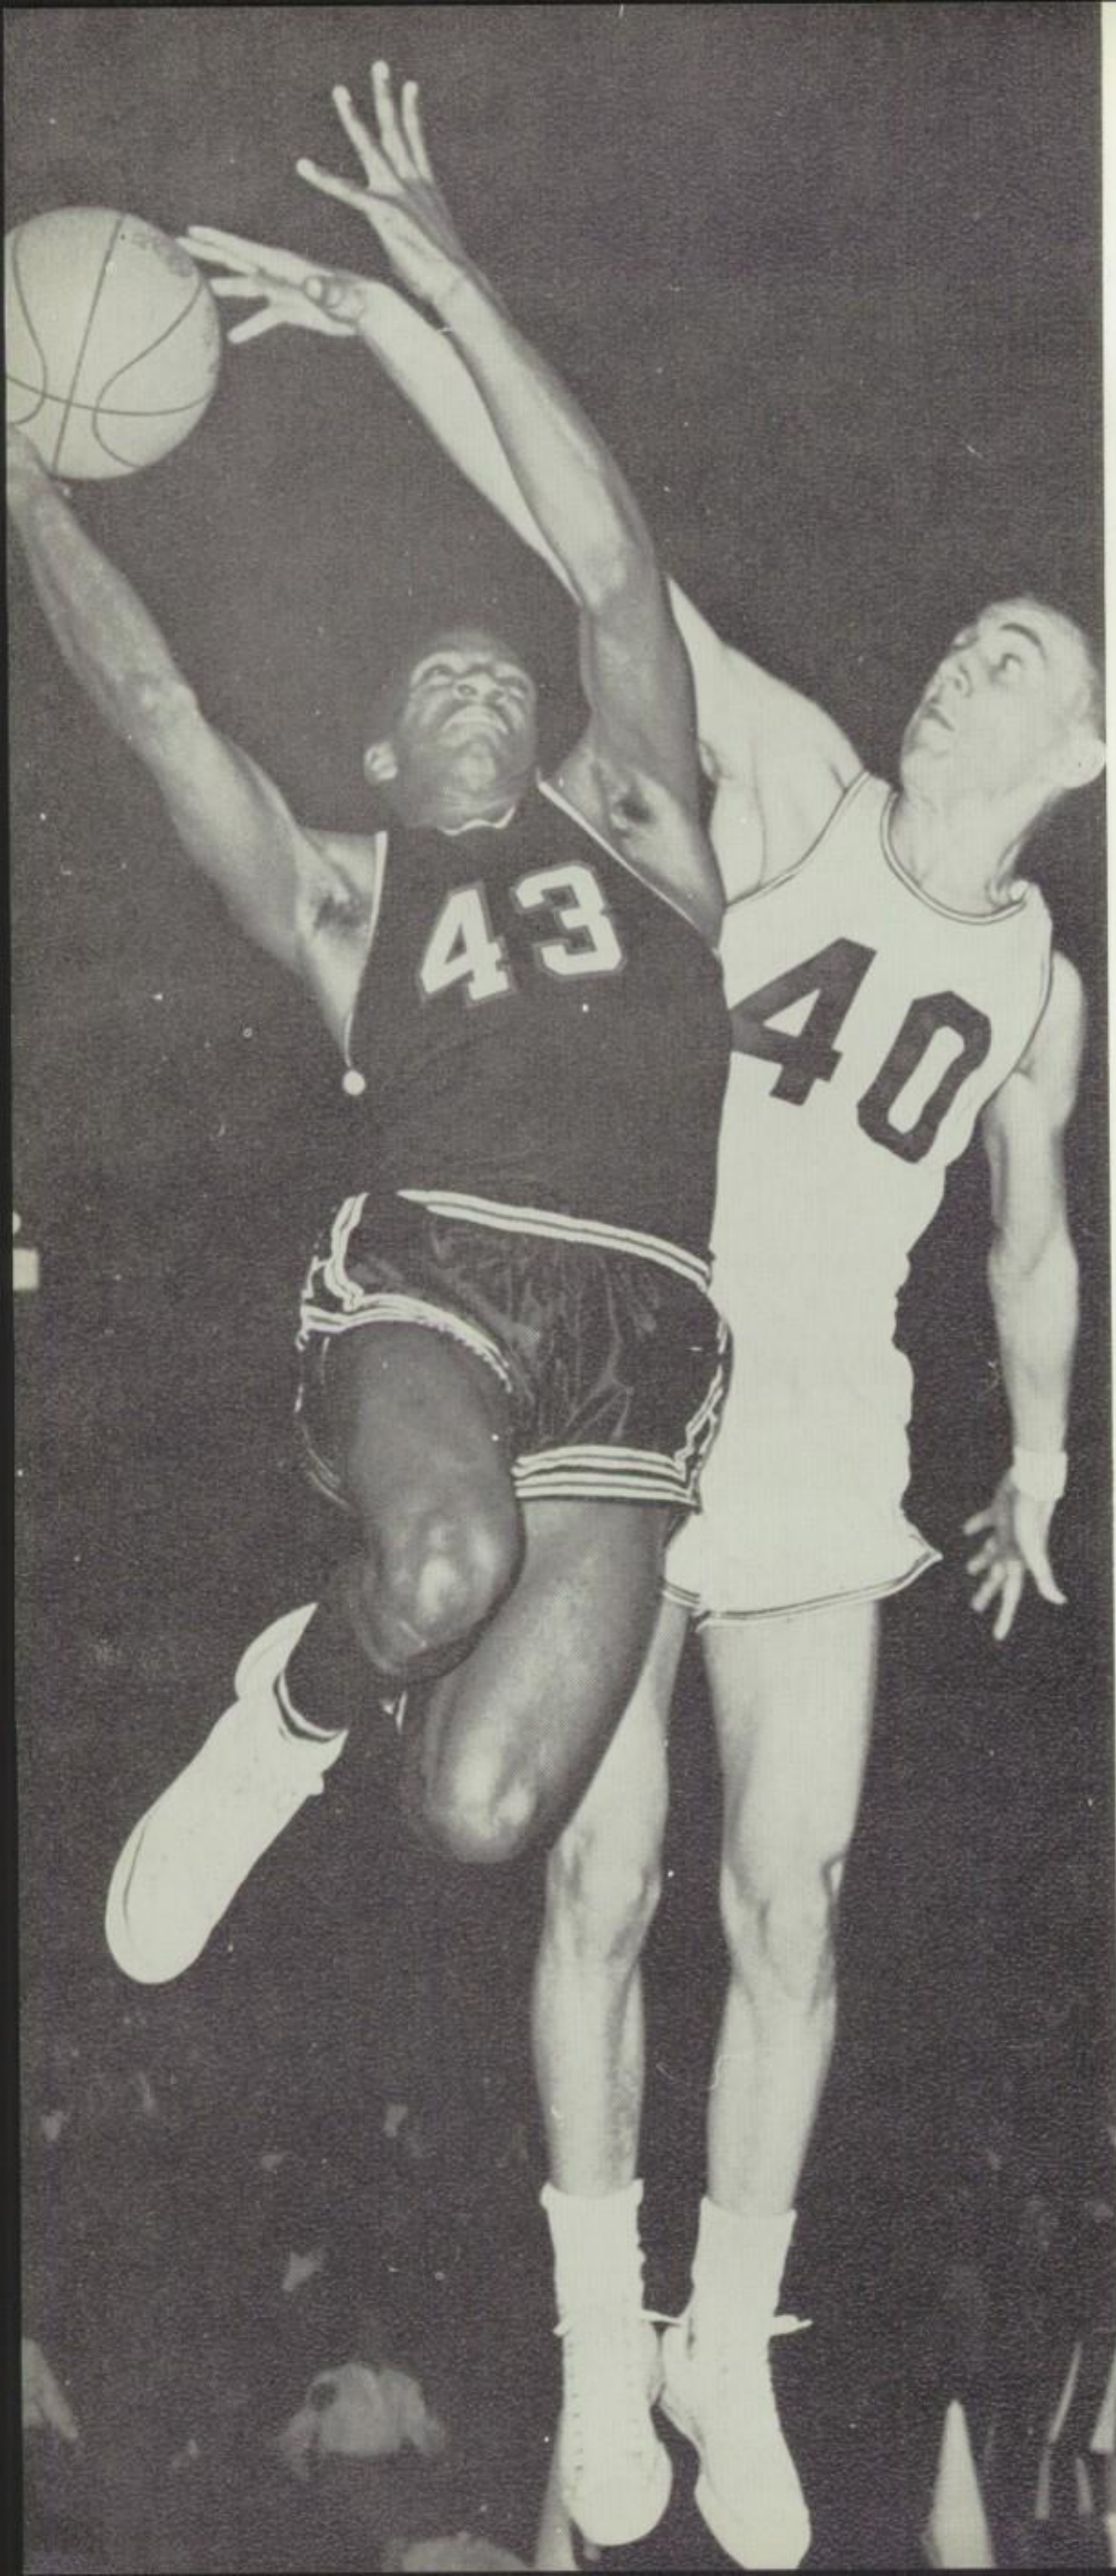
After the fabulous Homecoming and during the football season, came the year's most uproariously exciting dance. Students, dressed as Dogpatch folk, flocked to the Cafeteria, turned public outhouse. Corn shocks and actual trees provided ample decorations for this ultra-casual event.

The "King and I", the fall musical, was performed next by the music department. Superbly executed, this production employed a large group of grade schoolers. Leads were Jerry Priest as King and Janet Warren as Anna.

After the colorful, wintry Band Dance, exclusively for band members and their guests, followed the Student Council's Mid-Winter Whirl. One of the best dances of 1961, this sparkling holiday semi-formal proved to be comparable to the Prom itself with multi-colored lights focused on a mirrored ceiling ball and tinsel trees.



Laughing gaily at Dennis Gray's old joke, Carol Peck reflects the Mid-Winter Whirl's cheery holiday spirit.



Forward Jim Good, straining with a mighty effort, blocks a layup made by North Central's Bill Campbell.

Setting the "ball of winter sports rolling," Rick Pottenger plays the Star-Spangled Banner at Sectionals.

With size, scoring, potential, and speed, the 1960-61 varsity basketball team posted a fine record this year of 15 wins and 8 losses.

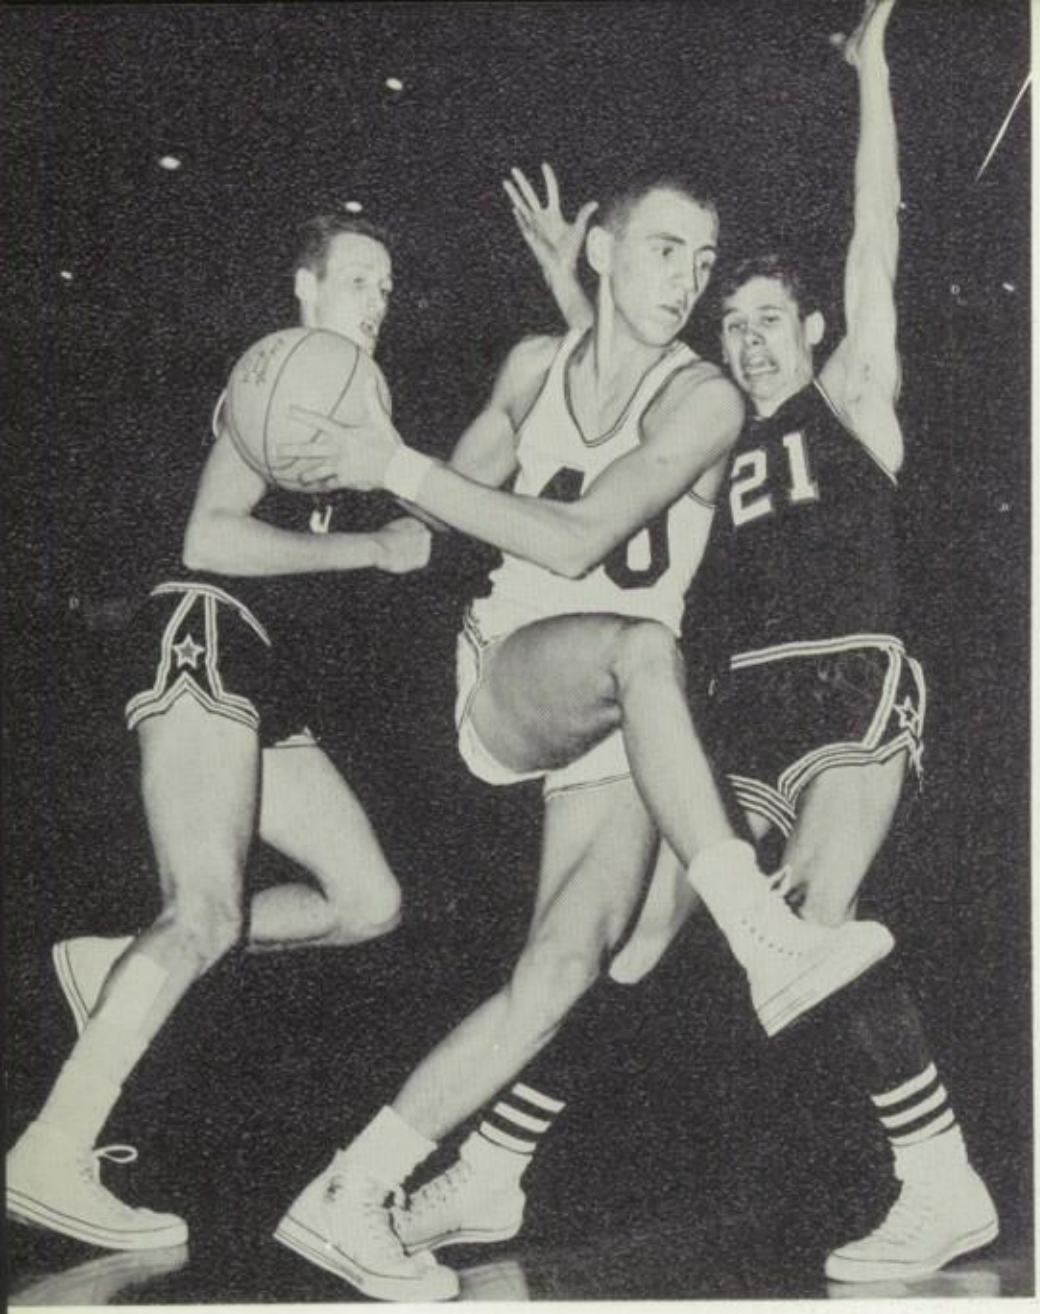
Eight returning lettermen carried the Giants to the final game of the County Tourney. In this exciting game the Varsity cagemen were edged out by rival foe North Central, 53-54.

In the state basketball tournament at Butler University, the Giants easily eliminated Deaf School but ran out of gas against Tech and were soundly trounced.

The hardwood squad, despite two defeats at the hands of North Central and single losses to Manual, Zionsville, Tech, and Attucks, still had a good season. With the loss of seven seniors, Evan and Marion Fine, should have their work cut out for them next year.

Fans Explode in Mad Hoosier Hysteria

Receiving instructions from Coach Marion Fine are the varsity basketball team, which include: KNEELING and SITTING: Assistant Coach Evan Fine, Terry Hamilton, Dave Spikes, Bob (Flash) Williams, Jim Good, Don Pless; and STANDING: manager Bill Fields, Doug Mackey, Jim Geloff, Don Tremaine, Garry Simmons, John Gorsage, Ron Cunningham, and manager Jim Watson.



"Yike!" says flustered North Centralite Dick Best as cool Giant Jim Good snatches a rebound from him.

"We're from Ben Davis, and no one could be prouder!" The Ben Davis cheering section might have been giving this yell at the county tournament this year. Although we were defeated, the team showed fine sportsmanship as well as scoring ability.

Three Giants were chosen for the All-County basketball squad. Gary Simmons, 6'5" center, Jim Good, 6' forward, and Don Pless, 6' guard were honored for their fine playing.

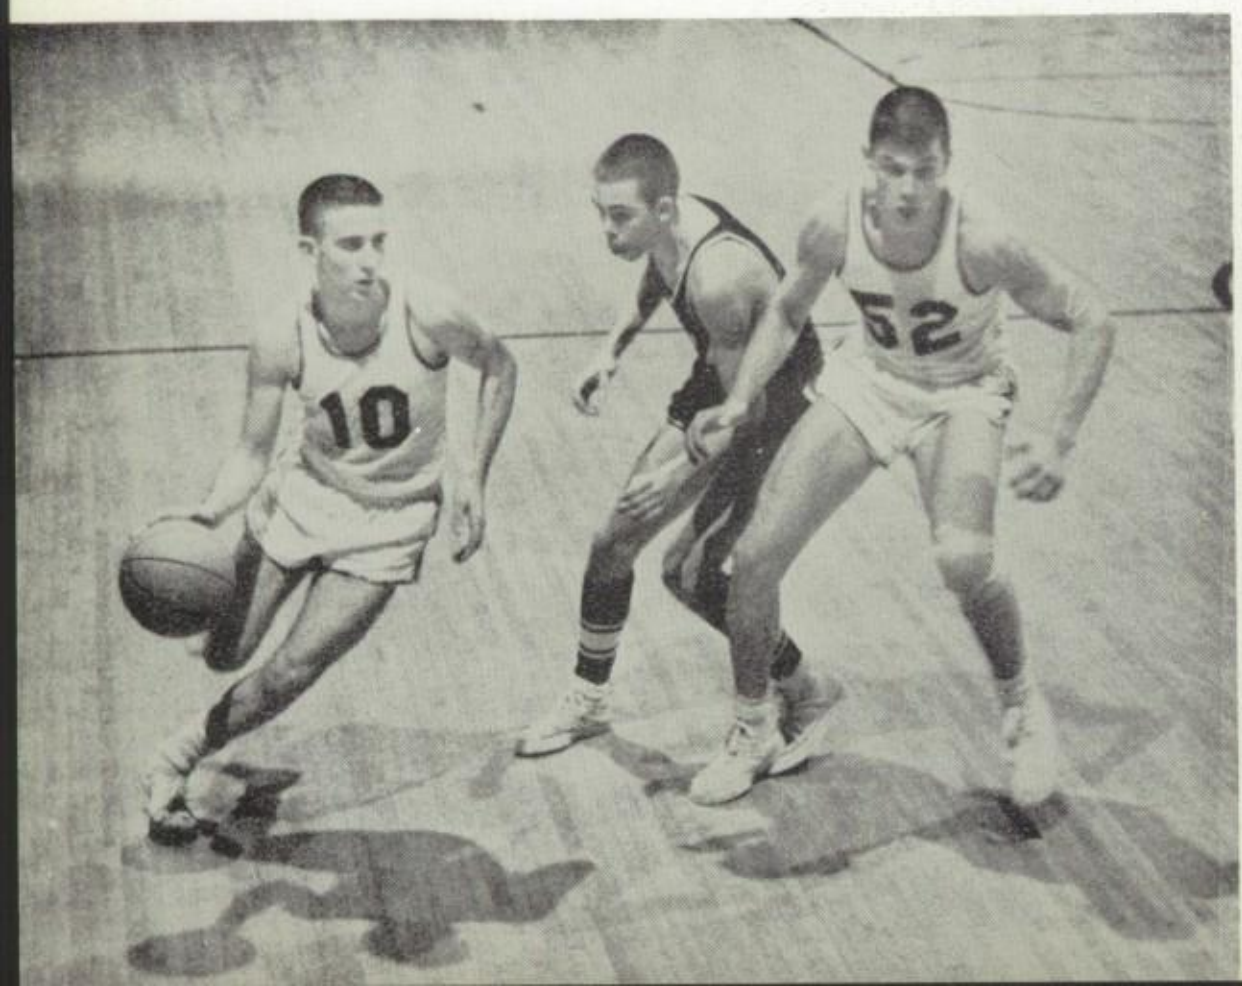
Don Pless was the recepient of the coveted Westside Exchange Club's mental attitude trophy, which is awarded each year at the sectionals.

With 22 consecutive points in one sectionals game, Jim Good broke a record formerly held by All-American Oscar Robertson and Hallie Bryant. The former record was 20 consecutive tallies.

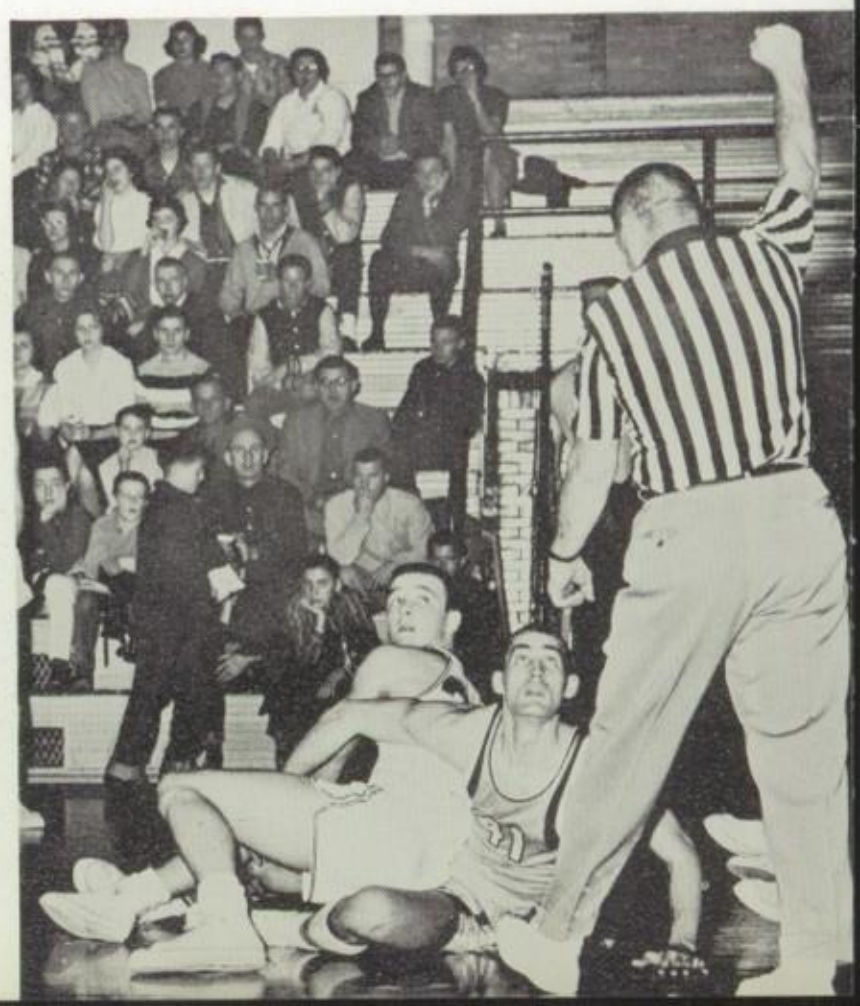
Ben Davis's great success this year could be attributed to the team's height, size, or experience; in any event, it is certain that Coach Marion Fine did a "fine" job in coaching the team through one of the school's best basketball seasons.

Hoopstars Block, Pass, Soar;

Senior guard Dave Spikes utilizes a block set by teammate Ron Cunningham to elude his defensive man, Washington Continental's Jim Rhoades.



"Who me?" asks Bob Campfield when the referee calls a foul on him. Gazing innocently up is Giant junior forward Don Tremaine.



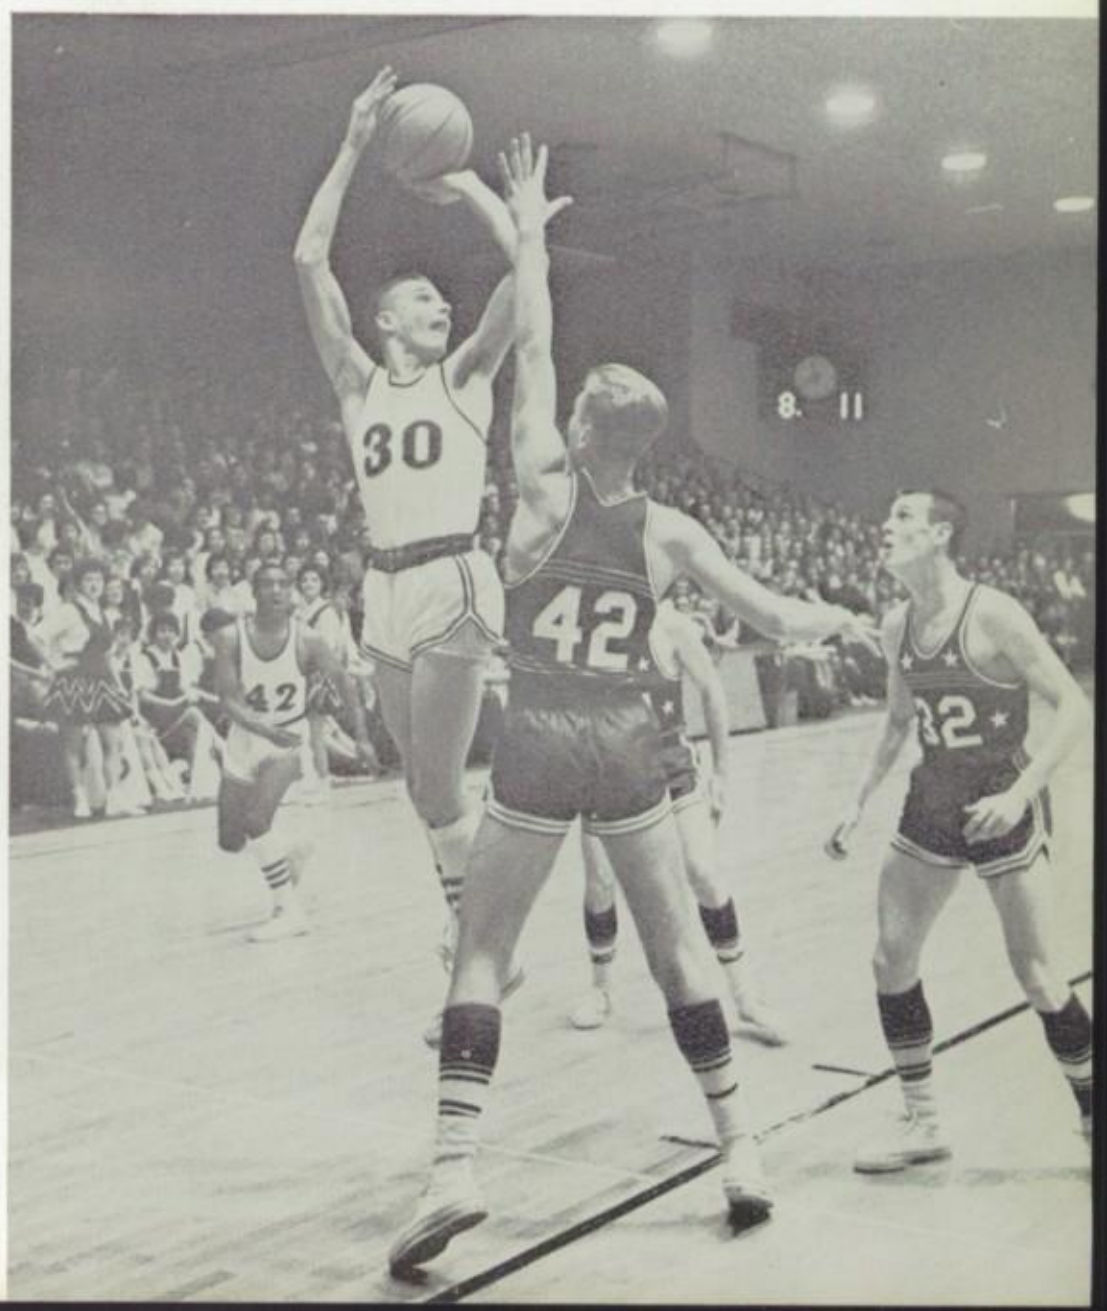
During warm-up, towering Big Ben turns his back to Manual's mascot to watch his mighty Giants.

Muscles tense, eyes glued on springing center Gary Simmons, Ben Davis Basketball whizzes and hopeful Broad Ripple Rockets prepare to snatch the airborne ball at a third-quarter tip-off.

Rebound

One staring in amazement, another watching in complete confidence, two future Ben Davis stars gaze at their favorite team in schoolboy admiration.

North Central Panther, Morgan Everson fires a left-handed jump shot over senior center, John Gorsage's fingertips. Seemingly stunned Giant forward Doug Mackey watches stupefied at the feat.



Members of the Reserve Basketball squad being coached by Evan Fine include: STANDING: Chuck LaFera, Mike Bush, Skip Miller, Phil DePuw, Harold Marksberry, Rick Knight, Bob Dickison; KNEELING: Giblert Hamilton, Bill Clore, Richard Wallace, Larry Goodbar, Ray Starnes, Garry Koker.

The reserve "roundball" squad paced by leading scorer Ray Starnes fought to end with a 11-9 season this year. Coach Evan Fine stated, "Sometimes the boys played like All-Americans and other rimes they played poorly, but they always had a lot of spirit and desire.

In Roundball Boys

There will be seven vacant places on next years Varsity basketball team, and most likely to fill these places are this years Reserve Cagemen.

Excel; the Fairer Sex Does as Well

"Who says girls can't play basketball?" Whoever it was would have to take those words back after seeing our intramural girls in action!

This year for the first time in the history of Ben Davis, we had a girl's intramural basketball team.

From 11:00 until 3:00 every Saturday morning the senior building gym would be full of lockers rattling, basketballs bouncing, buzzers buzzing, girls screaming, and all the usual sounds that come from a basketball game.

Under the direction of Miss Marilyn Benson, eight different teams participated.

Only one team was unbeaten at the end of the season, and that was Prissy Dillow's "Hustling Hoods".

For the second year the Boy's Intramural teams were sponsored by Mr. Bob Britt. The boys played their games in the Annex Gym with a few of the games being played in the Senior Gym whenever possible.

There were 12 teams with from 9 to 10 players on each team. Most of the games were played on Monday or Thursday nights.

Bob Willoughby's team won the league with a record of 11-0.

Bob Willoughby's winning team consisted of: Bill Ford, Bob Fulbright, Vurn Glenn, Don Kiewitt, Bob Willoughby, and Denny Kiewitt. Not pictured is Jerry Grace.

In Majors and Minors None Compare

The Varsity Baseball squad this year opened the season against a tough Southport team and were soundly defeated by the southside boys, 16-3. The Irish of Cathedral were the next to defeat the Giants, 2-0.

In their third outing Coach Trent Gipson's boys finally bounced into the win column with a 3-2 victory over powerful Manual.

This victory was followed by wins over Decatur Central, North Central, and Warren Central--all county powers.

Outstanding play was shown by Don Tremaine in pitching a no-hitter against Warren Central and also by Vern Glenn who not only won three games as a pitcher but did well at the plate.

With the loss of just three senior diamondmen, the experienced underclassmen stand a good chance for the county championship next year.

With the Speed and Skill of Giant Niners

Reserve diamondmen, under the sharp eye of coach Kenny Cox ended a better-than-average season this spring against the Scecina Crusaders.

The ball team posted a fine 5-2 record with the two losses coming at the hands of Southport and Howe.

The varsity squad should be aided quite a bit from the fine reserve prospects coming up next year. Outstanding pitching to be passed on will be that of Bill Clore, sophomore, and Roy Knox, freshman.

Mr. Kenny Cox, who did a fine job with the reserve team, will move up with his boys to the varsity squad next year, replacing Mr. Trent Gipson who will head the football team.

Coach Woodrow Staton led his talented freshman baseball squad to a hard-to-get, undefeated season this year.

Sparked by the fine pitching of Ronnie Cron, the frosh diamondmen won all of their games.

Batmen, led by Ray Yockey who hit 8-14, including two home runs, two triples, two doubles, and two singles, also helped the team's record.

Coach Staton's squad have compiled an amazing record in the last four years, winning all but two of their games.

Next year's varsity and reserve teams should be greatly aided by the experienced freshmen boys who will go out.

Whether Leaping, Sprinting, or Hurling,

Coach Wendell Hine's varsity track team compiled a respectable record of 4-5 against one of the toughest schedules in the county.

The team placed second in the county only a few points behind the winner. In sectionals competition the Ben Davis cindermen qualified three men for the regionals. In the regionals two of the three cindermen, Wally Bucklew and Bob Dickison, emerged victorious to advance to the state finals. There they were eliminated.

Records were established in many events--the new marks being in the 100 yard dash, broad jump, half-mile run and the 880 yard relay.

Golf, Concentration and Frustration;

The usual conglomeration of Ben Davis students came out for golf again this year. However, time usually weeds out the duffers, and the true (remaining) golfers went out to Riverside Golf Course--rain or shine. Coach Marvin Meranda in his first year as varsity coach did a fine job leading his squad to a 5-6 record.

The racqueteers, composed of four seniors and one junior, will lose most of their talent at graduation and will be hoping for some help from the freshmen and reserve teams.

The team, although their record was not particularly impressive, was matched against several tough squads. Among these was Park School, an all boys private school which was reputed to have one of the toughest teams in the state. They downed the Giants in a thrilling 5-2 match.

Muscles tensed for the impact of racquet on ball, Ted Winings, tennis captain, exhibits his skill at serving.

Girls Display Athletic Ability

Engrossed in a wild game of field hockey, these advanced gym girls flail the air to hit the ball toward their goals.

Get that ball away! Since basketball was the favorite sport of many played by the girls' advanced gym class, this yell often echoed through the gym and Senior building sixth period.

In addition to basketball, the girls decided to try something different. Under the direction of Miss Marilyn Benson, they attempted speedball, which is a cross between socker and football, and field hockey.

To create interest in basketball among the girls, Miss Benson joined with several county schools to form an intermural girls' basketball league. At the end of basketball season, a table tennis and badminton tournament was held which was won by Carol Hutchings, who was the city table tennis tournament champion.

Another to their many activities was a playday, sponsored by B.D. and attended by Speedway, Southport, and Pike. In the spring a playday for all Marion County schools at Butler University provided a day of fun and hard work.

During the spring various invitational track meets kept the girls jumping. Softball, golf, and tennis were the other spring sports enjoyed by the girls.

"Let's go girls!" This is the cry of Mrs. Margaret Shuler, sponsor of the Girl's Athletic Association of Ben Davis.

The G.A.A. was organized in 1953 by Mrs. Vivian Summeier, who was sponsor of the club until two years ago. The purpose she had in mind was to stimulate participation in girls' athletics and to promote ideals of health and good sportsmanship for interested girls of Ben Davis.

Officers of this year's G.A.A. were Chlores Hayward, president; Barbara Hameetman, vice-president; Marilyn Longmire, point secretary; and Dorothy Bantley, treasurer.

The G.A.A. participated in many projects this year, for examples: they entered a float (Big Ben) in the annual Homecoming parade, sponsored a sock-hop for one of the ballgames, contributed baskets of food and many donations to needy families at Christmas, and donated $40 to the cheerleaders to go to camp in the summer.

Of course they weren't always at work. Some of their fun activities were: a Play-Day at Butler, a Christmas party, and an awards banquet for the members and parents.

Yes, when the G.A.A. had their meetings each Tuesday after school, something was always happening.

Having been dared to wear whatever her GAA and gym girls brought, Mrs. Margaret Shuler sits upon her throne in her luxurious, pieced-together regalia.

Chants, Cheers Remove Giants' Fears

Five seconds were left in the game and the score was tied. A tense forward shot a 25-footer as the crowd roared and the cheerleaders pleaded for a victory. The entire school was quiet except for the chanting of the cheerleaders going through routines over and over again. There were many skits exclaiming the victories and superiority of the Giants. These were some of the most memorable moments in the lives of the cheerleaders.

The three squads of cheerleaders, under the direction of Miss Marilyn Benson, did much to raise the spirits of the fans and to encourage the boys to many victories.

The cheerleaders of Ben Davis were known for zest, spirit, and ability. Although some of their ability was natural, they practiced every week during football and basketball season to perfect each yell and chant.

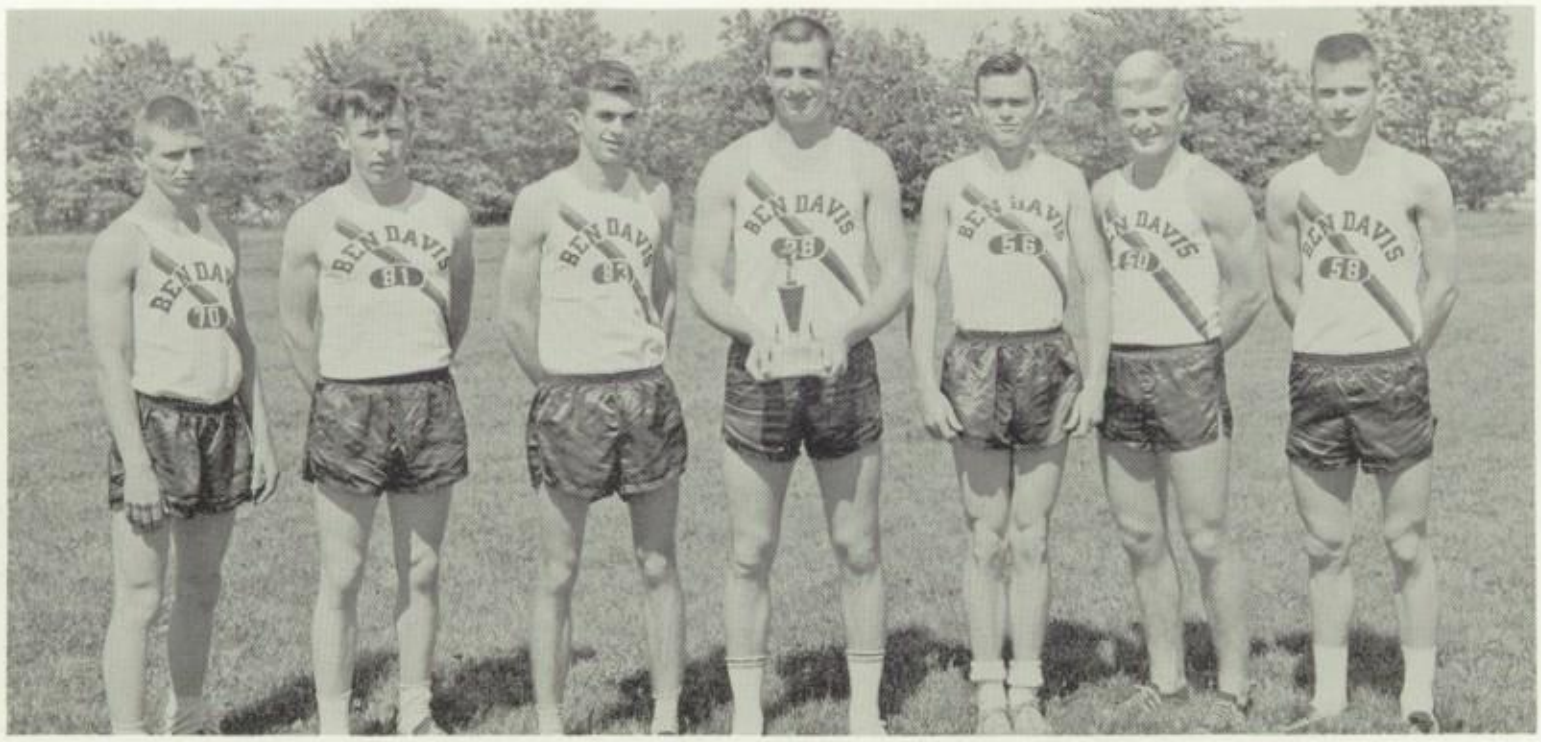
They also spent many hours practicing with the Pep-Band, Booster Club, and Big Ben's Boys.

The roll of cheerleader required much time and energy; but when that special game was won, they agreed it's well worth it!

Leading cheers for the freshmen squad were: Susie Peterson, Annette Dunham, Nicki Hostetler, Martha Bolten, Vicki Wycoff, and Jo Ann Straber.

The real backbone of the Booster Club and cheerleaders was Miss Marilyn Benson sitting here among BD's rooters.

Perky reserve cheerleaders were: Donna Roark, Jo Ann Lyons, Micky Hopper, Connie Henderson, and Linda Hendrick.



Records fell right and left in Track this year. Record-breakers include: Larry Curry, Ted Spurgeon, Bob Dickison, Wally Bucklew, Danny Dawson, Joe Thompson, Jan Leerkamp.

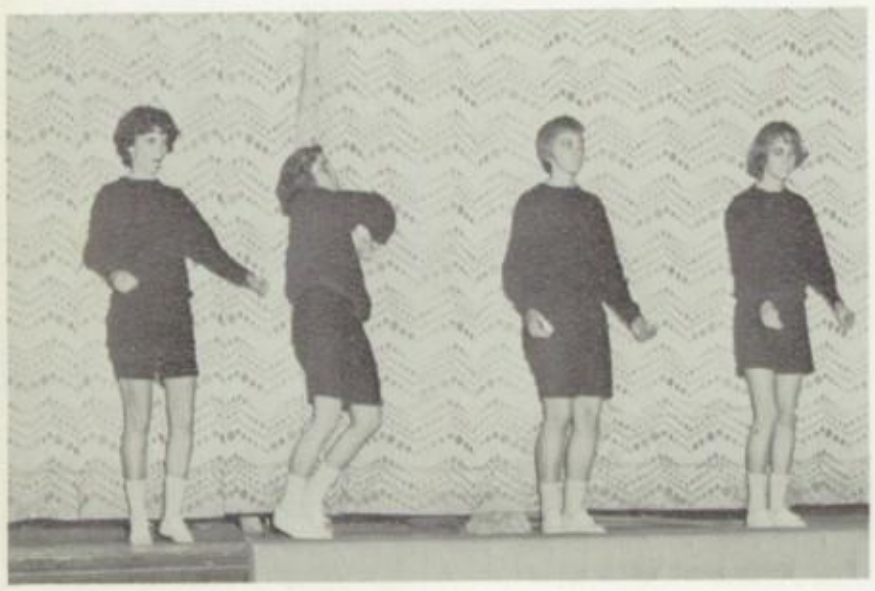
Reviving the Roaring Twenties, these seniors "Charleston-up" a storm!

Silent, swinging. sober. silly beatniks saunter into the show.



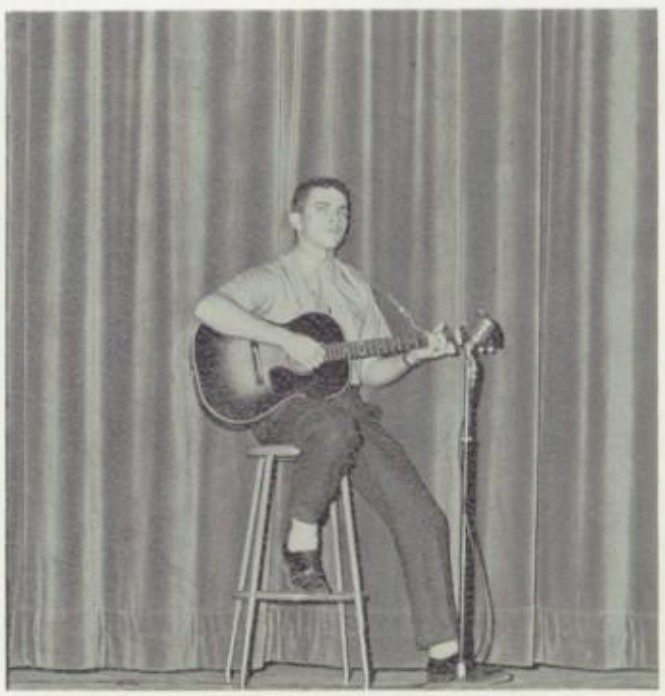
When Morehead and Davis drummed together, the "house rocked."

The bizarre boys' ballet exhibits "high-stepping" shenanigans.

Danny Dotlich leisurely munches a banana peel.

Senior Talents Explode into Varieties

With the swinging rhythm of drums, the curtains rose on the 1961 Senior Varieties! Bill Hart, Master of Ceremonies, introduced the acts. First, the Harem Clodhoppers entertained with basketball antics. The Roaring Twenties were revived by a classy Charleston group. The next act, four beatniks, subtly sauntered onto stage as drums echoed a "beat" rhythm. Chuckles emerged as "Sloppy, the Janitor" cleaned windows and ate lunch. Casual singing and guitar strumming by the next senior was warmly received. The "Frankie and Johnny" tale was portrayed next. The memorable piano melody, "Exodus", then floated through the gymnasium. Two pretty seniors next blended voices. Then the "Nimble Nymphs," featuring Flash and Foots, presented their extravaganza. A grand finale concluded the 1961 Senior Varieties!



Talented Carl Gooch writes and sings his own songs.

Johnny gets his just desserts in the "Franky and Johnny" skit.

Carolyn Gundrum and Karen Heffleman harmonize.

Around and around, up and down, these Swiss Alpine highlanders blare sprightly sounds.

The lights dimmed. A stilled hush enveloped the audience. Suddenly cumbals crashed, and the sound of music filled the gymnasium. An overture by the championship Ben Davis band brought up the curtain on the spectacular "Giant Revue of '61."

Flaring fluorescent lights, picturesque costuming, and breathtaking backgrounds were combined with the exotic dances of the majorettes, flag corps, and Bellaire girls, the sweet melodies by the orchestra, a chorus of talented voices, and solo appearances by Henry Barnard, Lynda Tomlin, and Patty Fusco.

The rainbow waters creating a romantic mist over the pagan isle, "Bali 'Hai", "Gay Paree"-with its Eiffel Tower and frolicking can-can dancers, romantic "Old Spain," -- all this and more in the unforgettable "Giant Revue of '61."

Spring Festival Splurges with Dance,

Up and over!--But not on purpose! These "stately, unemotional" beatniks execute "backbreakers" or is it a new game of leap frog?

High-stepping, sparkling, strutting Blues Dancers make their debut in the spring festival.

Rhythm, Color, Rainbow Waters

"The March of the Little Toy Soldiers" is here presented by the well-trained band auxiliary girls. They are tuning up to "When the Saints Come Marching In."

These happily smiling couples have checked their coats before entering the Indiana Roof ballroom for a "night to remember" at the 1961 Junior-Senior Prom.

Dazzling Dance Is Delightful Event;

"Prom Time" is that once-a-year whirl that highlights the active school year and refreshes study weary pupils. Dreams transformed into realities during that enchanting evening when commonplace peasants assume the roles of poised princes and princesses. Sparkling queens in billowy, soft, swaying skirts danced with perfectly tailored gentlemen to the magic melodies played by Vic Knight's orchestra.

Who can forget the delightful atmosphere of flashing lights, joyous laughter, and the mingling of delicate scents from perfumed bouquets in a rainbow of colors! We remember also the Coronation when the anxiety of not knowing who would wear the coveted crowns of the king and queen was at its height. Although the inevitable knowing whispers of, "I know who it will be," circulated through the hushed crowd, it was still a wonderful surprise, even to the "insiders" when Dave Spikes reigned as king with Tonda Pemberton, his queen. Joe Thompson and Sandy Miller shared the royal threshold as prince and princess.

When the magic midnight hour enveloped the ballroom, couples reluctantly abandoned the splendor of the Indiana Roof to invade various restaurants or Prom parties.

The merry-making continued until dawn when, with a sudden burst of energy, the Prom couples became picnickers and headed toward numerous state parks. Hiking, bicycling, and horseback riding provided many new adventures in a never-ceasing search for rainbows? hidden gold? lost treasures? No! Just fun!

Then, just as suddenly as it all began, it was over! Juniors traveled a weary road homeward filled with plans for next year. Seniors had a little sadness, a few tears, and warm memories.

'Twas the "loveliest night of the year," and we danced and danced and. . .

At the announcement of their names, Joe Thompson and Charl Ann McFarling stroll to the throne during the Prom Court Processional.

Pompous Prom Court Parade to Throne

Turning to watch the crownbearers walk up the steps, these anxious members of the Prom Court await the announcement of the 1961 Prom Royalty.

King Dave, Radiant Queen Tonda Rule;

As hushed Prom couples inched to the edges of their chairs, the Coronation ceremony commenced. Crown bearers arrived at the throne, followed by the Prom Court which included: (counterclockwise from top left) Seniors Carolyn Crowe, Dave Spikes, Tonda Pemberton, Gary Simmons, Sandy Kinney, Don Pless, and Juniors Sandy Miller, Larry Carter, Charl Ann McFarling, Bill Ford, Bonnie Paton, Joe Thompson.

The 1961 Prom Royalty, King Dave Spikes and Queen Tonda Pemberton delightedly lead the Dance of the Royalty after their coronation.

Couples Feast; Later Picnic at Parks

Queen Tonda and King Dave smile r a d i a n t l y after being crowned king and queen of the 1961 Prom by Allan Abbott and Lynda Tomlin, Master and Mistress of Ceremonies.

From the balcony, students can be seen here enjoying refreshments and chatting at their tables during an intermission.

Getting saddle sores is easy for these "old cowhands," who are riding at McCormick's Creek. Cavalry members are: Jim Watson, a "stranger", Flash Williams, and Little Linda.

Ranking high actively and scholastically are Gold Key winners: Ted Winings and Mary Ann Spahr; and Silver Key winners: Cookie Howard and Larry Carter.

Scholars

At no other time than award time was everyone more acutely aware that you reap according to what you sow.

If your interest happened to be art, Emmalean Baumann proved that with lots of hard work, recognition can be won. For the first time in many years a Ben Davis student won an award in the Ayer's Golden Key contest.

On the other hand, if you're a "math whiz," the annual Indiana High School Achievement Program at Indiana University provided an opportunity for you to prove your mathematical ability.

For the "all-around" student, Gold and Silver Key awards were presented by the Ben Davis Quill and Scroll to two seniors and two juniors. Summertime, for two deserving juniors, this year was partly taken up by their activities at Boy's and Girl's States at Indiana University.

The most coveted awards of all, however, were those given to scholastically able students by the various universities throughout the country. Certainly the most outstanding scholarship this year was the $2100-a-year scholarship to Princeton won by Robert Rigdon.

Receiving the most coveted journalism award, the Merle Sidener Award, for their labors on the Keyhole and Spotlight are Mary Ann Spahr and Dean Richardson.

Seated in serenity and cheerfulness, Janet Warren is the 1961 Ben Davis DAR award winner.

Winning medals in contest math and languages are: Laura Boston, Linda Yarling, Gene Forry, and Robert Walden.

Through one door of learning step the American Legion-selected Girl's and Boy's State representatives, Linda Lipinski and Larry Carter.

Honored with Scholastic Laurels

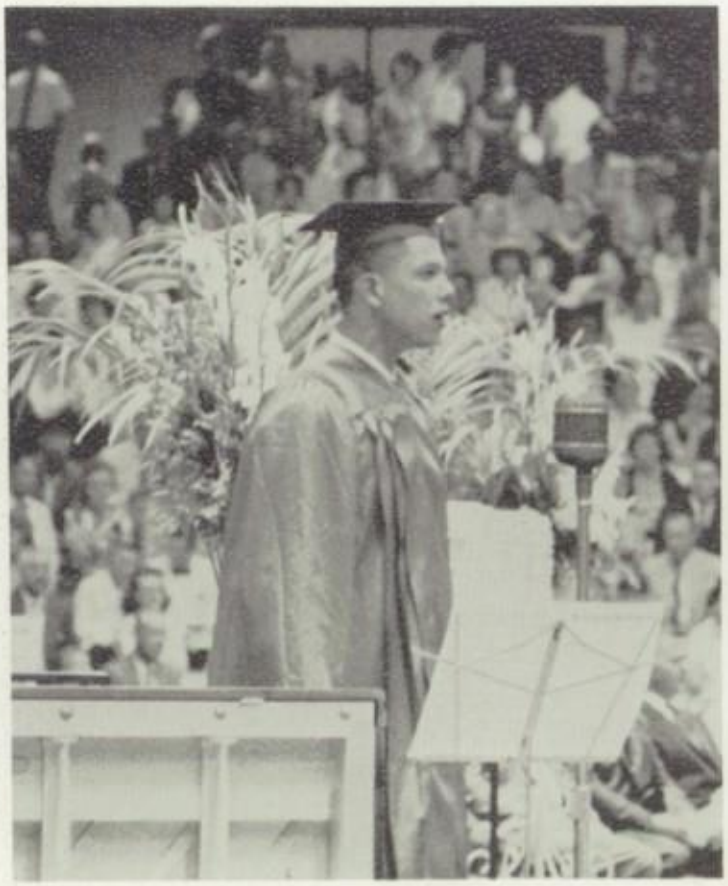
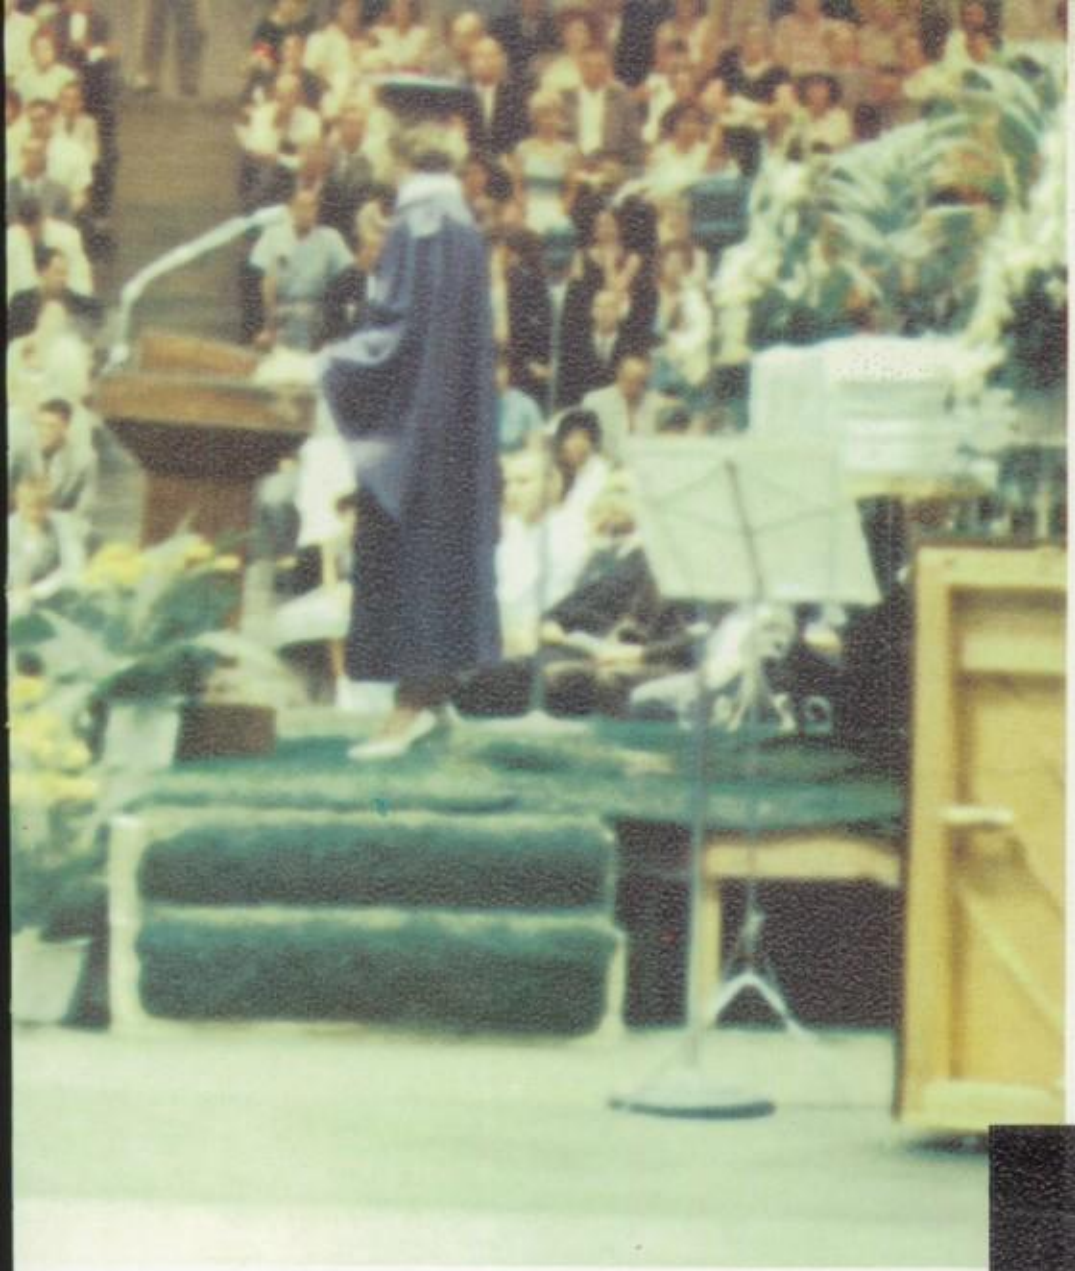
Reminiscing, Misty-Eyed Seniors

Waiting nervously, "future graduates" straighten ties, comb hair, and fidget while lining up outside Indiana Central's gym before the processional.

Ron Cunningham vocally asks, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You."





All grads attentively absorb words of wisdom from a commencement speaker.

Memories---Oh, those crowded dressing rooms ----trying, without success, to make those mortar boards fit at the right angle---then the line-up----. The audience remained hushed with the tenseness of expectation until the stillness was suddenly broken by the majestic strains of "Pomp and Circumstance."

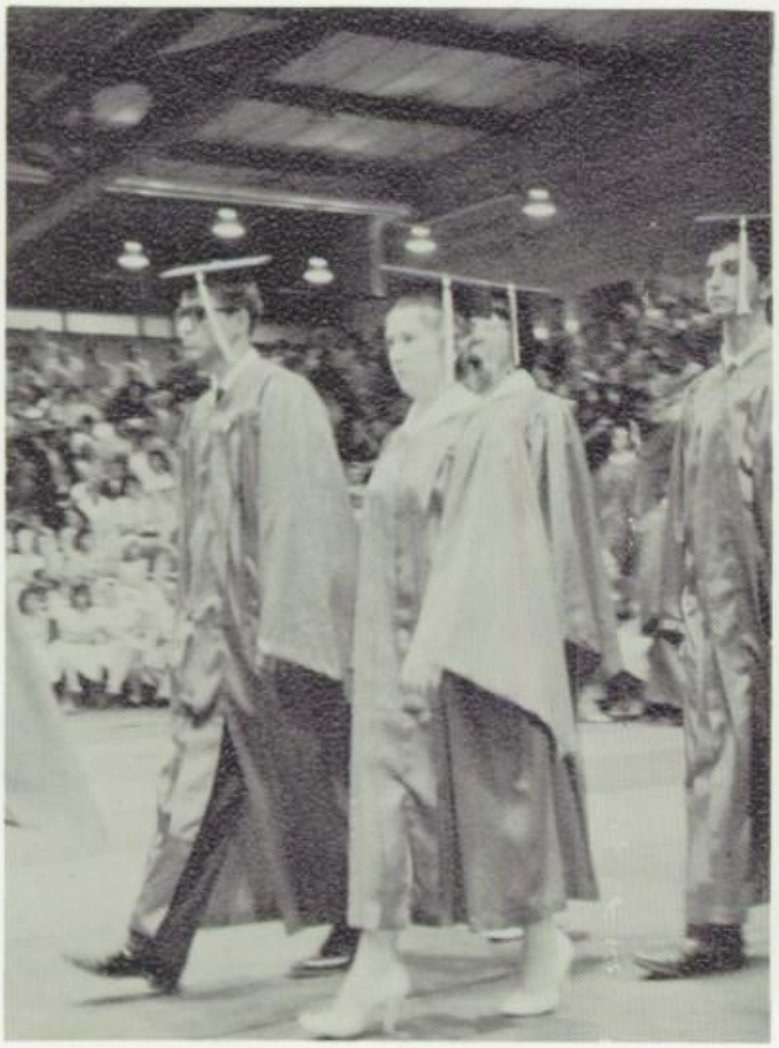
The gradual descent of long rows of royal purple---a humble, thoughtful invocation---the careless laughs and smiles of students who were inwardly awed and just "a little scared"----wise words from our top students, who were only themselves realizing the full meaning of this big night.

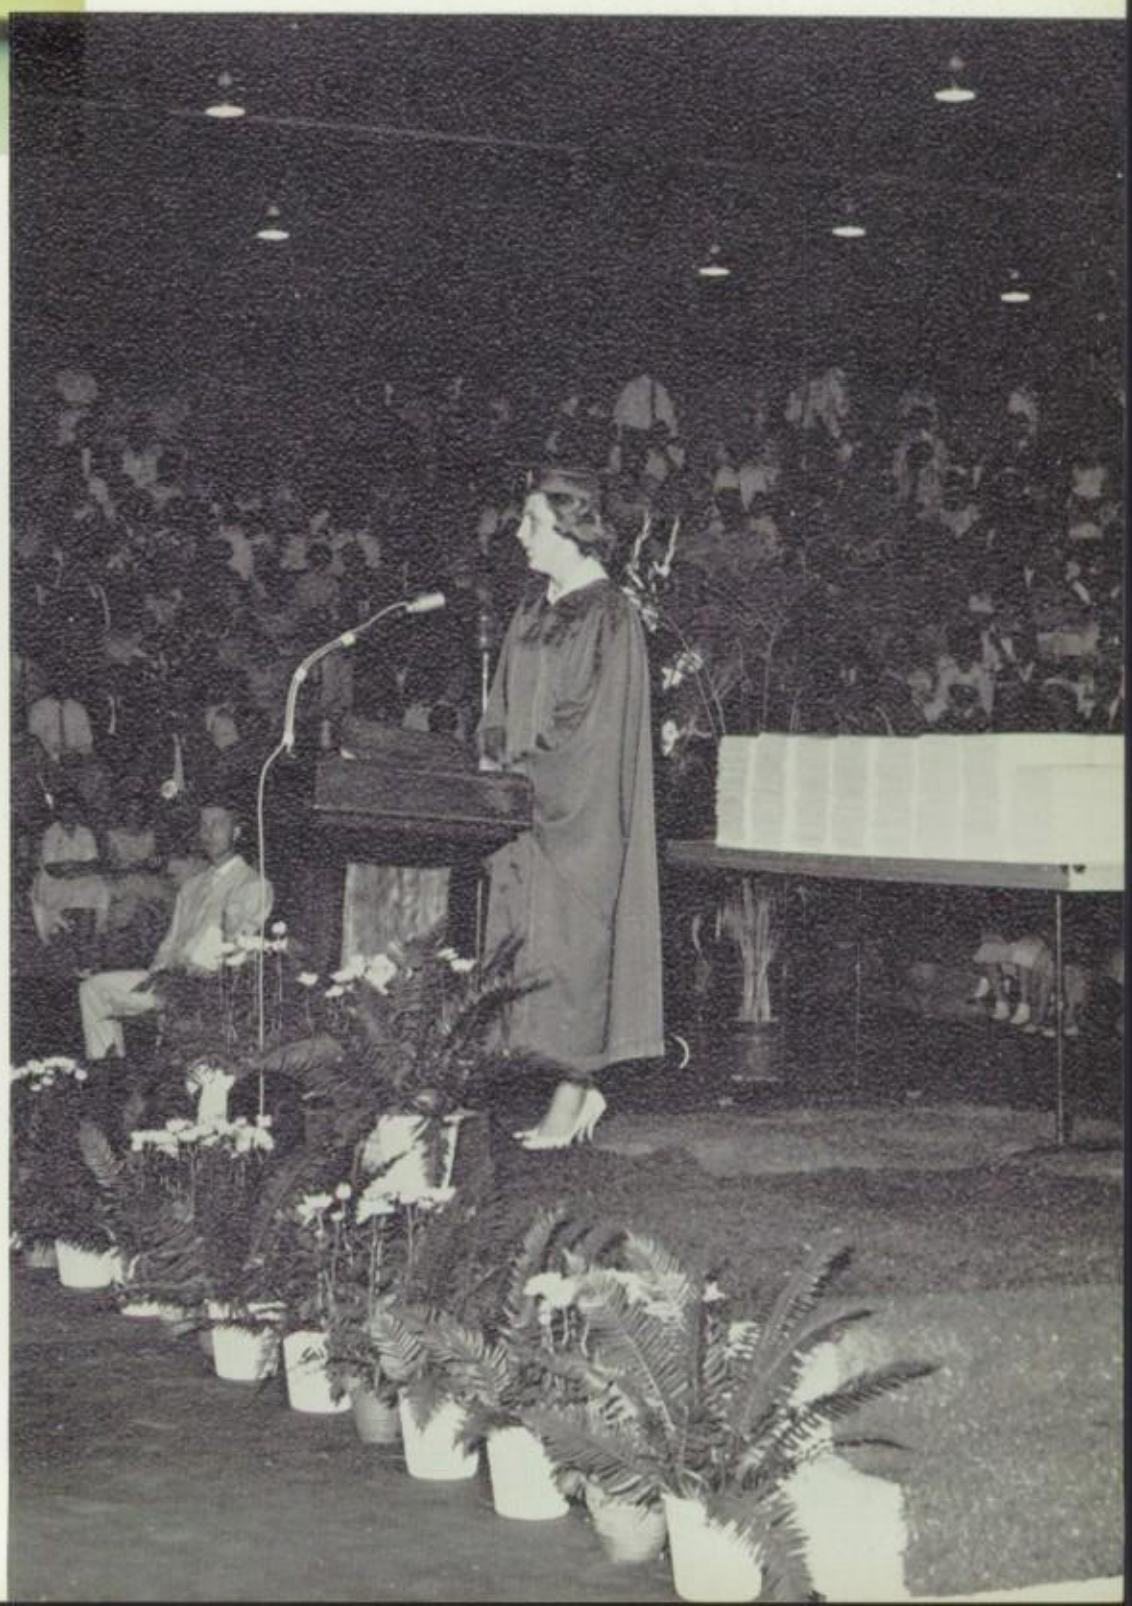
"Graduates! Start your motors!"----meaningful words to start their lives by----the call of the roll---- and diplomas were presented to wise but sad students---they were on their way----Yes! Memories are made of this.

"We must 'Ask what we can give," comments Barbara Hameetman to a pensive audience.

Anticipate Future

Solemnly couples walk in pairs in the processional and recessional.





Top Two Seniors Receive Honors;

When a drum roll fills the air at Ben Davis, all eyes look for Barbara Hameetman in the spotlight. This, however, is not the only spotlight filled by Barbara; but only one of many.

There is one spotlight that can be filled by only one person out of a class of 401 keen competitors. This top position of valedictorian is also filled by Barbara.

In addition to her participation in the band and dance band, she adds that crazy beat to pep band music at home games. Her musical ability is further proven by being a music contest winner.

Her reward for her scholastic ability is participation in the National Honor Society and Mu Alpha Theta, national math honorary society. She also represented Ben Davis and won in the annual math contest.

"Fun time" for Barbara is filled by her activities in 4-H, GAA, Youth for Christ, and SPQR.

Barbara is now attending Indiana University on a full tuition and fee remittance scholarship.

"This Is the Task!"---So begins salutatorian Larry Henderson's speech on graduation night; and as second highest scholastically in his class, Larry was well qualified to outline his ideas to the graduates.

To an observer it seems that winning is not an unusual event for Larry. He has won medals in math contests, various awards in music contests, and recognition as a National Merit Scholarship finalist. While participating on the varsity debate team, he not only helped win school trophies, but also won several individual ribbons.

Larry also scored as a leader while being student council president, Masque and Gavel vice president, and sophomore class vice president. Through scholastic achievement, Larry was awarded membership in the National Honor Society and Mu Alpha Theta.

Being a Silver Key Award winner signified that Larry was an all-around good student. In his crowded schedule he included tennis and intramural basketball to balance his varied activities.

One doesn't need a magic looking-glass or a crystal ball to prophesy Larry's future; it's a sure bet that it will be all good.

Glorious "Class of '61" lists Activities

Being measured by Mr. Duane Fleener, Nancy Thomas fidgets.

"Come on, you guys, it's our turn to sit at the Senior Tables!" growls Bob Willoughby.

Senior cords, senior tables, senior magazine, senior party, senior privileges,----yes----it's a senior's world.

At Ben Davis those words finally became a reality; but only through long hard work and perserverance by class officers, sponsors, and those willing to work for the good of everyone.

Surely no one will ever forget those wacky senior cords! Senior tables, senior seats on the gym floor, and their own senior party----yes----it's all in a senior's day at Ben Davis.

Seniors dance in the Cafeteria at the Senior Christmas Party.

Leading the class of '61 to fame and fortune are officers: Pat Cottey, secretary; Prissy Dillow, vice-president; Don Pless, president; Donna Buzzird, treasurer.

In Memoriam

Mr. John Masariu, Principal of the Ben Davis Grade School and former coach at Ben Davis High, will live forever in the memory of those students and fellow teachers who were priviledged to know him. His entire teaching career was served here at Ben Davis, and he was completely devoted to the task of making us better men and women.

He was a man among men, and he lived life to the fullest, giving unstintingly of his time and efforts for others. He loved his family above all else and carried in his heart a deep and abiding religious faith. We, the countless friends and former students whose lives were enriched because Mr. Masariu lived among us, make this faithful promise--we will not forget.

B.D. Salutes

It is with sincere regret that we students and teachers at Ben Davis must say "goodbye" to these retiring teachers who have given their time and effort to the teaching profession. However, we are grateful to them for having devoted themselves to teaching, and we are especially thankful that they chose to teach at Ben Davis. In retirement, we wish them all the best in happiness and health. May they think of us sometimes and remember that we deeply appreciate what they have done for us . .

Shown here opening and examining their gifts at a party in their honor are retiring teachers Mr. James Shockley, Miss Gladys Dawson at his right, and Mrs. Faye Nelson. At the extreme left is Miss Dawson's sister.

As sponsor of the Keyhole, it is my privilege and pleasure to have the 'last word'. I feel that my special appreciation and thanks should be extended to the following:

Mary Ann Spahr--for doing such a tremendous job in planning, compiling, and editing this yearbook. Her ability and devotion to this project made my work easier than ever before.

Earl Houck--for being Mary Ann's 'right hand man', and for his exceptional dependability.

Roslynn Webb--for an outstanding job of copy writing.

Karen Steele--for staying on until the book was completed.

The Administration--for cooperating in every way, as always.

The Walsworth Publishing Co.--for their continued efforts to make our book 'something special'.

Max Galloway--for being just the best professional photographer in the business.

The entire Staff--for doing such a fine job in putting this Keyhole together.

Sincerely,

Glenn H. Fisher

So Freddy,
the best damn
steadyin the whole wide world. (spaz! Dig those adjectives!) Sure wish we were getting out of school instead of going in.
Dive had more fun than I have in a long time.
Year or so than you have too!! Just the thought of you (believe it or not!) and Dive decided that Dope thinking of you through you area big, bad
Dokey-Dokey?
Im gonna love ya ever
Senior! (there goes those adjectives!) Sure this date, we have been going steady 22 days and 1 hour?? But you didn't that, did ya? Boy, how 'bout that, work? Hope so. Well, I think Dive rambled enough to fill this page, so Dee quit. O.K.?
Love always,
(Sam)
P.S. I love
you!!!
(Honest)
